Secretary Wilbur Signs Contract For Hoover Dam

CONTRACTOR PREPARED TO BEGIN WORK

Will Start Construction
36 Hours After Receiving Official Report
PLAN FOR TUNNELS

Impressive Ceremony Marks
Wilbur's Ratification of Contract for Big Dam

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(UP)—Secretary of Interior Wilbur today signed an authorization awarding the construction of the giant Hoover dam and power plant on the Black canyon of the Colorado river to the Six Companies, incorporated.

Last week Six Companies, Inc., a combination of as many construction firms, made a low bid of $48,990,999 for the contract to build the dam and power plant. F. T. Crowe, manager of the companies and for many years a construction engineer in the interior department, has notified Secretary Wilbur that his organization is prepared to start work within 36 hours after it receives formal notification to proceed.

An impressive ceremony marked Secretary Wilbur's ratification of the contract for Hoover dam, a project which is expected to turn a desert of the far west into a garden land supporting 5,000,000 people.

Wilbur signed the authorization in his outer office in the interior building, under the eyes of a group of senators and representatives from the western states. A little knot of interior department officials, headed by Reclamation Commissioner Elwood Mead, to whom Hoover dam will be the crowning achievement of a lifetime of public service, followed the final act with smiling faces.

The first task which will face the construction company at the dam site will be that of driving four tunnels, 50 feet in diameter and about one mile long, through solid volcanic rock on each side of the canyon. These tunnels alone are expected to cost approximately $15,000,000. A cofferdam, 80 feet high, will then be constructed above the site of the permanent dam, and a similar one below. When these temporary dams are constructed, it will insure the dryness of the river bed during the construction period.

Driver Hurt When Car of Fitts Hits Pasadena Machine

SOUTH PASADENA, March 11.—(UP)—District Attorney Buron Fitts escaped injury today in an automobile crash here which seriously injured Lazo Ruelas, 22, of Pasadena.

An automobile driven by the Los Angeles prosecutor and carrying R. T. Smith, of Los Angeles, as a passenger, struck Ruelas' machine at the intersection of Mission street and Fremont avenue.

Ruelas was taken to an emergency hospital and later removed to the Pasadena hospital. He suffered a fractured left shoulder, severe injury to the right knee and leg, severe head injuries and lacerations of the arms.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Want Lovely Tresses? Here's Secret

PORTLAND, March 11.—(UP)—Modern women would have lovely tresses if they allowed their husbands to pull their hair somewhat after the fashion of the cave man's treatment of his cave woman.

Delegates to the Pacific Northwest Association of Beauty Culturists, in convention here today, heard Jessica Bourne, chairman of the reception committee, describe hair pulling as one of her favorite beauty devices. She recommended it as a favorite and beneficial indoor sport.

Other delegates informally complained that their "profession" could not develop normally due to the hopes of many women to look like the latest motion picture favorite.

OCHS DECLARES BUSINESS NOW IS ON UPGRADE

Publisher of N. Y. Times in Interview Says Better Days Are Ahead

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—(UP)—"Business is definitely on the upgrade," if people have the power to make the grade," Adolph Ochs, publisher of the New York Times who has just returned from Honolulu, said today.

He declared he had always been classed as an optimist, but added he sincerely believed the world, and particularly the United States, had been passing through a transition period with sounder and better days ahead.

"We have been going pretty fast," Ochs told the United Press, "and naturally ran out of breath. There is no doubt in my mind that the world is just beginning its development and I congratulate young people in the part they can play in this development. It is not a case of over-production but one of under-consumption. There is plenty of money in this country, but it is not working and unemployed money presents a greater problem than unemployed men.

"Perhaps things have been bad, but in my recollection conditions have been in a much more unsettled state and everything worked out."

Ochs reiterated his opinion that prohibition and its modification or repeal would form the chief political problem of the major parties and that the parties will be forced to take a definite stand one way or the other on the issue.

CHINESE PLAN TO MAKE OWN TALKIES

SHANGHAI, March 11.—(UP)—China is to have her own "talkies" if the plans of a group of capitalists, who have organized the United Photoplay service, materialize. Two studios have been opened in Shanghai, while another is to be opened in Hongkong and still another in Tientsin.

The Shanghai studios have been purchased from the Man Sun and Tai Ching Wah film companies for approximately $100,000 Mexican. Silent pictures as well as "talkies" are to be made by the new concern.

Many of the men interested in the new company are owners of cinema houses in China.

FAILS TO SEE HER CHILDREN; ENDS LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—(UP)—Mrs. Ruth Emmons, 24, was dead today, a suicide, police believed, because she was not allowed to see her children.

Formerly of San Jose, Mrs. Emmons deserted her three small children two weeks ago because, she said, she was unable to pay for their care. The children were lodged with their grandparents in Redwood City.

Becoming despondent yesterday, when she said the grandparents refused to allow her to see the children, she took poison. She died a few hours later at an emergency hospital.

FRANCE-ITALY NAVAL ACCORD GIVEN PUBLIC

Agreement Looked Upon
As of Tremendous International Import

LONDON, March 11.—(UP)—The Franco-Italian naval agreement, permitting the two powers to build two battleships each, as well as a large number of auxiliary ships, was made public today.

The agreement, however, although it makes no move toward actual disarmament, was regarded as of tremendous international importance, in that it limits the two navies to a definite figure for the next five years. Previously, France and Italy were entitled to build what they pleased, and had accepted the 1930 London treaty entered into between the United States, Britain and Japan, and a naval race was feared that might have had disastrous consequences.

Under the present agreement, France and Italy agree to build 143 surface ships: totalling 171,075 tons, before 1936, including two battle cruisers apiece, of 23,000 tons each. In addition they will build 37,000 tons of submarines, which might be expected to mean about 60 submarines, making a total of some 200 new ships.

The significance of the agreement embraces the following points:

1.—It prevents an apparently imminent naval race, complicated by Britain's threat to use the "escalator" clause of the London treaty—which would permit her to disregard the treaty and build in pace with any non-treaty power threatening her security.

2.—It implies a Franco-Italian reconciliation, possibly leading to settlement of dangerous post war colonial and other difficulties.

3.—It gives hope for full co-operation of France and Italy in next year's world disarmament conference.

4.—It paves the way for Aristide Briand's Pan-European federation, to which a dissatisfied Italy might have proved an obstacle.

SCIENTISTS SEEK PHOTOS OF PLANET

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., March 11.—(UP)—Lowell scientists, discoverers of the planet Pluto, may take photographs of a new planet, Ba, said to have been discovered by Professor Lacchini of the Pino Torinese observatory, Turin, Italy, Dr. C. O. Lampland told the United Press today.

"I just heard of the reported discovery this morning," Dr. Lampland said. "The thing is too indefinite to justify a positive statement at this time. If additional information which we expect to receive warrants an investigation we may take photographs."

Independent Gas Dealers Receive Phone Threats

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—(UP)—While most independent operators were retailing gasoline at 8 and 9 cents a gallon today, with major companies maintaining the price at 12 1-2 cents, other independents joined the ranks of those who have dropped the price to 5 cents.

As a result, several stations have received calls from rival operators warning them to "stay in line," it was reported.

One independent reported he had received a telephone call warning him to maintain the prevailing price or "Your dump will be blown up."

Police viewed the threat with little concern, however. Other threats have been received by major oil companies that if their nightwatch staff was not increased their plants would be blown up.

Wife, Roomer Gone; Wants Money Back

ROBINSON, Ill., March 11.—(UP)—J. H. Zeigler, Robinson garage owner, reported to police the mysterious and apparently simultaneous disappearance of his blonde wife, a red haired roomer who lived at the Zeigler home, his automobile, and checks totalling $100.

"And I want my car and money back," he announced tersely to state's Attorney O. L. Plunkett.

OPPOSITION TO BUILDING LOAN MEASURE FELT

Representatives of Many Concerns In State to Put Up Battle

SACRAMENTO, March 11.—(UP)—Building and loan interests of California moved their big guns closer to the legislative battle front today with unexpected opposition developing to the new building and loan measure.

Representatives of 17 building and loan associations appeared before the assembly building and loan committee last night to voice objection to the measure introduced by Assemblyman Milton Golden of Hollywood.

The proposed law, designed to put "teeth" in the present act, and prevent future repetitions of the $8,000,000 Beesemeyer embezzlement in Los Angeles, has the approval of the California Building and Loan league, and H. L. Carnahan, state building and loan commissioner.

Opponents of the bill declared the present depression in building and loan business is not the result of the Beesemeyer affair, and that the present laws are sufficient to safeguard both associations and their depositors.

The bill was put over until the committee's next meeting.

Two measures aimed to speed progress of the San Francisco bay bridge were before the senate today with a favorable recommendation of the committee on roads and highways.

One would provide a state appropriation of $650,000 to be made available for preliminary engineering costs. The money, under an amendment to the bill, would be returned to the state out of the revenue from the first sale of bonds, and as such is virtually a loan.

The second bill permits the state to take over at its option the maintenance of the roads of the bridge after it is constructed.

ESTATE OF PHELAN INCLUDES $1 NOTE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—(UP)—The estate of the late U. S. Senator James D. Phelan, variously estimated at from $15,000,000 to $30,000,000, includes a quarter interest in Richard Walton Tully's stage play, "The Bird of Paradise," state tax appraisers revealed today.

The estate, however, probably never will realize a profit on the play because of heavy expenses incurred in defending plagiarism suits, it was said.

The itemization of assets filled 139 typewritten pages and ranged from art treasures to a promissory note for $1. One of the largest items is the $5,000,000 Phelan building in San Francisco.

SAILORS ABANDON SHIP HONGKONG, March 11.—(UP)

Thirty-seven seamen aboard the Danish motorship Roseville saved themselves by leaping ashore when the vessel grounded on Turnout island in the straits of Formosa, according to word received today by Hongkong agents of the Klavensness line.

The tug Henry Keswick was dispatched from Hongkong to the scene of the wreck to pick up the stranded sailors.

CLAIMS POWER INTERESTS OUT TO RUN NATION

Sen. Norris Tells Progressives
Wealth Soon to Control Parties

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(UP)—Electric power interests are seeking control of both major party national conventions to name presidential candidates of their viewpoint while a sham battle rages over a false issue, Sen. George W. Norris, Republican, Nebraska, said in a keynote speech in opening the Progressive conference here today.

Though he did not mention prohibition which was excluded as a topic of discussion, many in the audience knowing his personal views, assumed this was the "false issue" to which he referred. Denouncing control by large wealth, he said use of money in elections would soon engrave the dollar sign on the national capital.

"This combination," Norris said, referring to the power industry, "is now beginning its work, the purpose of which is to control both of the great national party conventions. Their attempt is to fight the campaign on a false issue, about which they care nothing, but being careful that the candidates for president in each of the parties shall have their viewpoint upon the real issue, which, to the very best of their ability, they will keep in the background."

"They will contribute to both sides and, while the sham battle is going on, they will celebrate in high glee, knowing that while in any case the people will lose, yet they are sure to win."

More than 100 independent Republicans and Democrats, labor leaders, economists, sociologists and publicists gathered in the luxuriously appointed ballroom of the Carlton hotel, to consider an economic and social program of legislation to be pressed in the next congress by the small crowd of insurgents who will hold the balance of power in both houses.

Utilities, farm relief, tariff, unemployment and restoration of popular government are on the program.

FRESNO, March 11.—(UP)—All raisins of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers' association today were under attachment. It was estimated between 5,000 and 10,000 tons were involved.

The attachment was obtained by attorneys for the Kings County Packing company to satisfy a judgment of $58,400 and five years' interest, amounting to a total of about $80,000. The judgment was given 13 months ago following suit for breach of sales contract.

Roy Hagen, general manager of the co-operative, refused to say what effect the attachment would have on Sun-Maid operations. It was reported, however, that the raisins and all plant and other equipment of the association were subject to prior claim by banks and the Federal Farm board.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(UP)—Capt. Ira Eaker, who made a forced landing halfway between St. Louis and Dayton yesterday on his flight across the continent, hung up a record of 235 miles an hour—nearly four miles a minute—in a heavily loaded experimental plane before he was forced down, an official of the war department told the United Press today.

RAIN FALLING IN FRESNO DISTRICT

FRESNO, March 11.—(UP)—Moderate showers started falling here today about 9:30 a. m., the first appreciable rain since February 19.

The official weather forecast was for only occasional showers today, tonight and tomorrow, although farmers were hopeful that the heavy clouds would produce driving rains.

Seasonal rainfall to date here stood at 4.55 inches this morning, compared with 6.94 inches normal and 4.62 inches last year at this date.

Suspect Is Being Held In Bastile

Autopsy Surgeons Find Hair Grasped in Hands of Virginia Brooks

SAN DIEGO, March 11.—(UP)—A single blond hair, clasped in the hand of little Virginia Brooks, gave police today a tangible clue with which to continue the search for her murderer.

Autopsy surgeons found the hair while making further examination of the body today. The hair was not that of Virginia, they reported, and did not resemble that of Harry L. Wahlstrom, 27, a suspect in the case, who was held for questioning while police investigated his record.

Meanwhile, search for her killer continued in the Escondido district, where several weeks ago two men reported seeing a girl bearing a striking resemblance to little Virginia in company with an elderly man in a green coupe.

Tire tracks found at the scene of the gruesome find yesterday lead from the Escondido road, and deputy sheriffs expressed the belief that the Escondido trip might bear fruit.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Gompert of Los Angeles, expert on tire tracks, was to be brought here today to aid local officers in identifying the automobile which carried the Brooks girl's mutilated and hacked remains into the hills not far from Camp Kearney, where a shepherd, George H. Moses, found them yesterday.

It was agreed that the automobile was a old, for its tires were of the old fashioned high-pressure type. The automobile which Escondido residents named in their information, fits this description, it was said.

Police also were checking the types of earth found in Wahlstrom's yard to compare with the leaf mould found in the sack which contained Virginia's body.

Deputy Sheriff Blake Mason declared that the sack apparently had come from a nursery or farm, and the clue was one of the most valuable on which he had to work. Wahlstrom is a poultryman.

SANTA BARBARA, March 11.—(UP)—F. W. Murnau, 42, prominent motion picture director, died early today from injuries received in an automobile accident.

Murnau was en route to Monterey to visit Governor Morris, author of "Tabu," Murnau's latest film which he spent 18 months making in the South Sea islands, when the car in which he was driving overturned.

Bachelor Thinks Sense of Humor Is Better Than Wife

HASTINGS, Minn., March 11.—(UP)—Dan E. Eyre, who claimed to be the world's oldest bachelor, celebrated his 100th birthday today and announced he would rather have a sense of humor than a wife.

"You get more attention if you're unmarried," he said, "especially from the girls. Besides, a sense of humor is a man's most valuable possession and lots of times when a man gets married he loses it."

Eyre celebrated his birthday at Hastings hospital, where he has been confined since he partly lost the use of his legs more than a year ago. Nurses provided him with a cake bearing 100 candles.

SECRETARY DIES

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(UP)—Official Washington today mourned "Uncle Joe" Cotton, undersecretary of state, who died late yesterday in Baltimore after a protracted illness. The New York lawyer who abandoned a lucrative practice to enter President Hoover's official family two years ago, had earned an unique reputation as a plain spoken, jovial diplomat of the "shirt-sleeve" school, and eminently popular with all who knew him.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, March 11.—[To the Editor of The Register:] The biggest thing in legislation nowadays is the different States' race for the divorce business. Arkansas guarantees a divorce in three months, including room and board. Nevada heard about it and called a special session of their Legislature and says: "We will give you one in six weeks, and if any other State goes under that time we will give you a divorce, marriage and another divorce all for the same time and price; in other words that's our business, we have built it up to what it is today. If there had been no Reno you would still have been living with the same old gal, so remember we are the State that will divorce you even if we have to do it by telegraph."

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

170 CASES OF PARALYSIS ARE FOUND IN L. A.

Four Deaths Also Due to Jamaica Ginger and Authorities Busy

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—(UP)—With 170 cases of paralysis and four deaths reported as a result of the sale of Jamaica ginger extract authorities were spurred into action today.

Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, county health officer, stated he believed there were 50 other cases of paralysis as yet not reported and that the situation had reached epidemic proportions.

Pomeroy is prepared to ask aid of the board of supervisors in speeding up regulations which will prohibit the sale of "jake" as the extract has become known.

While steps were being taken to stamp out the "epidemic" of paralysis and death, a search was started for three druggists who are said to have fled from the jurisdiction of the county health department. The men together with 18 other wholesale and retail dealers, had been cited to appear before health authorities.

Oakland Architect Padded Contracts, State Board Rules

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—(UP)—W. H. Weeks, prominent California architect, faced the loss of his license today on his conviction by the state board of architects of charges of "padding" contracts.

Weeks was on trial before the board for more than a month on complaints preferred by J. A. Bryant, San Francisco contractor, according to Alan C. Van Fleet, attorney for the board, who announced the decision.

Weeks is president of the Weeks Securities corporation, Oakland, which had its stock selling license suspended in January, 1930, by the state corporation commission.

MILLS GIVES BOND

Jesse Shreve, Financier of San Diego Also Faces
Charges of Delinquency

SAN DIEGO, March 11.—(UP)—Alexander Pantages, who rose from ownership of an Alaskan dance hall to the ranks of millionaire theater owners, heard himself accused of conspiracy to violate the juvenile court laws and conspiracy of contributing to the delinquency of minors when he surrendered this morning before Judge Arthur Mundo.

Pantages was liberated on $15,000 bond previously arranged by his attorney, Earle M. Daniels, after Judge Mundo set his preliminary hearing for April 13.

The theater man rushed into court through a side door, his coat collar turned up to conceal his face, and heard the complaint read. He left by the same route, climbed into a slowly moving automobile and disappeared. He was accompanied by Daniels. Pantages refused to discuss with reporters any details of the case.

Pantages specifically was charged with participating in a wild party at El Cortez hotel here October 30, with John P. Mills, Los Angeles real estate man, and Jesse Shreve, San Diego financier.

The girls involved were Lydia Nitto, also known as Alice Blake, and Helen Livingston, both of whom were declared to be only 16 years of age. The girls assertedly were brought to San Diego by Olive Clark Day and William Jobelmann, already under arrest in Los Angeles for investigation into their participation in an alleged "white slave" ring.

Named in the complaint with Pantages were Mills, Jobelmann and Mrs. Day. A second complaint, charging conspiracy to attack the Livingston girl, with Shreve specifically charged with the attack, named Mills, Jobelmann and Mrs. Day but not Pantages.

Mills, District Attorney Thomas Whalen said, apparently was the go-between in bringing the Shreve-Pantages and Day-Jobelmann parties together.

Shreve surrendered yesterday and was released on $25,000 bond provided by his brother, Attorney George Shreve. Pantages and Mills, however, remained across the border in Agua Caliente, Mex., until this morning.

Mills posted $20,000 bond shortly after 10 o'clock, and was released after his hearing also had been set for April 13. Judge Mundo also changed the date of Shreve's preliminary, previously fixed for April 11 to coincide with that of Mills and Pantages.

FOLSOM PRISON, Calif., March 11.—(UP)—Huge spotlights illuminated the Folsom rock quarry in the early morning hours today as 50 prison guards searched for Stanley Hussar, 22-year-old escaped convict.

Says Democrats Of South Opposed To Raskob Scheme

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11.—(UP)—Southern Democrats may be expected to support the Republican presidential candidate in 1932 if the Democratic party nominates Alfred E. Smith or any other wet candidate who supports John J. Raskob's liquor control plan, Dr. A. J. Barton told the Anti-Saloon league's winter meeting here in the keynote address last night.

Dr. Barton is chairman of the executive committee of the league.

METROPOLITAN WATER PROJECT IS EXPLAINED

Col. S. H. Finley urged the united support of the Santa Ana area for the Metropolitan Water district and gave a talk explaining what the district is, at a dinner meeting of the 20-30 club at Ketter's cafe last evening when members of the organization were hosts to their employers and business partners.

The ultimate necessity of the water district to the community was explained by Col. Finley. The present source of supply for water now depends entirely on the rainfall and what little snow falls in the mountains, Col. Finley said, as he predicted that at the present rate of consumption, in 25 years the district would be entirely without a source of water supply unless new sources are tapped. Continuing, he said that the only source of water supply here was the Colorado river.

The Metropolitan Water district, Col. Finley said, "will operate as one unit and with the present population of the district the probable cost per capita of building the necessary 250-mile aqueduct with pumping stations and distribution reservoirs will be $100. At the time the aqueduct is completed, which it is expected will be in about seven or eight years, it is estimated that the population will have increased so that the cost per capita will have been cut to a maximum of $50. This is much cheaper than the price we are paying for water at the present time."

Hume West, president of the club, presided at the meeting which had been arranged as "Entertainers' night." Many prominent men of the community were present and Teris Westgate, past president of the club, explained the meaning of 20-30 and gave a history of the founding and growth of the organization.

During the dinner hour selections were played by Wayne Huffman and his stringed quartet. Claude Reed, general chairman of the cleanup week campaign, asked for reports from the various committees at work on the project.

TWO MEN TREATED AFTER DOG BITES

Two men are undergoing the Pasteur treatment for prevention of rabies, it was revealed by the county health department today.

Walter De Brower, and Guadalupe Padillo, who live southeast of Santa Ana, were bitten Monday by a rabid police dog belonging to Padillo.

The dog had been sick for several days and Padillo had it chained up but it broke loose and bit De Brower and then came home and attacked Padillo. Padillo shot and killed the dog after it had bitten him.

The body of the dog was taken to a veterinary hospital, where it was found that it had positive rabies.

Clinton B. Portwood, who married his wife, Esther M. He asks that custody of their daughter be awarded to the mother.

Plaintiff in the other action is Helen G. Ingersoll, who seeks separation from Harold E. Ingersoll. They were married in 1929 and separated last month.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(UP)—The navy department, it was learned today, has cancelled orders that assigned Rear Admiral N. E. Irwin as commandant of the Mare Island, Calif., naval base, succeeding Rear Admiral George W. Laws.

STATE OFFICER HERE IS GIVEN CAPTAIN'S RANK

Otto (Ole) Buer, for the past five years a member of the Orange county squad of the state police, has been promoted to Captain and temporarily assigned to Inyo county, with headquarters at Big Pine, it was announced today by Captain Henry Heehan, of the Orange county squad.

Buer will leave here late today for his new duties. The appointment of a man from the ranks is in keeping with the policy of the department, and was made on the recommendation of Captain Meehan. The appointment was made by E. R. Cato, superintendent of the California Highway patrol and takes effect immediately.

The appointment was made in recognition of Buer's splendid work on the squad in Orange county. Captain Meehan stated, he giving Buer much credit for his work during the past five years. Buer was given a high rating at the officer's school in Sacramento, several months ago, also.

The appointment of Buer makes the second promotion from the Orange county squad in the past year, the other being that of F. Yoder, who was made a district inspector and assigned as instructor in traffic regulations in Sacramento.

Announcement also was made today that District Inspector Walter P. Greer, formerly connected with the Orange county squad several years ago had been appointed as inspector for the entire state police. The announcement came from Sacramento and was received in the local office today.

Greer is well known in Santa Ana, having lived here for some time prior to his being transferred to Sacramento.

Investigation Of Mayor Walker May Held Possibility

NEW YORK, March 11.—(UP)—Mayor James J. Walker, who left two days ago for California to "get away from all these investigations," faced the possibility today of becoming the subject of an investigation himself. The movement for a general investigation of the whole Tammany controlled city government, which gained great impetus with the start of an inquiry into incompetency charges against District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain, may be broadened to include the mayor.

ANAHEIM ASKS MODIFICATION IN WATER BILL

In line with a decision, reached at a conference of members of the city councils of Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton, held last Thursday in Anaheim, to protest against features of the act now pending in the assembly which would create an Orange County Water Saving and Replenishment district, action was taken at the regular meeting of the Anaheim council last night, asking modification of the bill as it is now drafted.

The Anaheim council adopted a resolution which called for modification to provide that any property within the limits of a city to be served by the Metropolitan Water district, be exempt from taxation by the proposed saving and replenishment district, in order to avoid possibility of double taxation.

Resolutions protesting double taxation and other reported objectionable features of the act, which was introduced by Assemblyman Ted Craig, after it had been prepared by Attorneys Horace Head and A. W. Rutan, have been previously adopted by city councils of Santa Ana and Fullerton.

All three of these cities are members of the Metropolitan Water district.

Other objections which have been made to the act, which it was announced by Attorney Head had been drafted at the request of the Farm bureau, board of supervisors and water users of the county, are to the effect that costs of sewage reclamation projects which are authorized under the terms of the act, would be too great in proportion to the amount to be derived, and that the people of the county are not permitted a voice in the organization of the district.

Approval of the bill, aside from the features objected to in the Anaheim resolution, was voiced.

When Jack's ashore he's liable to be going several places at once! But there's one thing Navy men can get together on—whether in Hong Kong, Seattle, or Newtown Center: Taste is what they want in their cigarettes—the taste that comes from milder and better tobaccos, and from nothing else! They know their cigarettes, these men of the fleet. That's why Chesterfield is the Navy's choice!

FOR NINETEEN years, our Research Department has kept intimate touch with every new development of science that could be applied to the manufacture of cigarettes. DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

When everything seems to go wrong it is stupid to try to grin and bear it, for while you merely bear it you can not grin. Power and joy are in the heart when you face the hard things, which are inescapable in life, with the conviction that there is latent within you the power to fulfill a mighty destiny, no matter how heavy your burden nor how tremendous your sorrows. Indeed the maturing of your personality would never be attained if your tasks demanded less of you. God never made any man to be overwhelmed. He will not see you fail if you lean upon Him.

JURY BELIEVES CARELESSNESS CAUSED MISHAP

Herman Kesler, driver of the small truck which ran down 9 year old Charles Luchau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Luchau, of Olive, on the Olive-Orange boulevard Monday afternoon, was being held in the county jail today in connection with the case. The child died of his injuries.

Calvin Coolidge Says

NORTHAMPTON, March 11.—It is always easy to become impatient with the prolonged debates of the senate. The people tolerate talk but they admire action. Nevertheless it would be dangerous for the senate further to impair its character as a deliberative body. A good measure can stand discussion. A bad bill ought to be delayed. To give a check upon the popular house of representatives the constitution established the senate to be more permanent, independent and conservative. The house was to protect the people against oppression. The senate was to protect the people against disorder.

While the nature of the senate has been changed by the direct election of its members it has still remained a citadel of liberty because it has always contained a body of strong men who were able and willing to expose dangerous measures by adequate debate. Their arguments on the floor go to the country through the press. If they have real substance the people respond. Of course the power to debate can be abused. But it is safer to employ those who abuse power in debating than in voting. Open debate is the only shield against the irremediable action of a rash majority.

ARMY OFFICIAL SEEKS AID FOR JOBLESS HERE

Cooperation with householders, or businessmen, wishing somebody to do small jobs, is asked by Brig. Paul Helsingier, officer in charge of the Salvation Army industrial department, in Santa Ana, in a problem he is trying to work out for the best interest of the unemployed, as well as society in general.

"We have work for some men who come, but we by no means can care for all," the officer said.

A great need is voiced just now by the Army for more used magazines and old newspapers. These are collected by the trucks with the big red shield and taken to the plant where they are sorted, baled and sold. Last year nearly 25,000 meals were given away solely through the collection of such waste materials in the harbor district.

Old clothes, outworn, but not worn out, shoes, suits, hats, overcoats, dresses, furniture anything of this sort, useless to the present owner, is of great use to somebody. The Salvation Army seeks to act as an entrepreneur between the man who has it but doesn't need it and the man who needs it but doesn't have it.

New Lemon Packing Unit For Citrus Association

M. O. D. BEGINS WORK ON BIG BUILDING SOON

ORANGE, March 11.—Plans for the building of the $75,000 pre-cooling plant for the Orange Mutual Citrus association are expected to go forward rapidly, since the adoption of an ordinance by the city council yesterday which will provide for the closing of a portion of Marietta place in order to provide room to build the plant.

Plans shown at the council meeting include those for a new lemon unit which is to cost $50,000 and which, it is expected, will be built within the next two years. With the building of this unit and the pre-cooling plant, the M. O. D. plant will extend from its present location along the Santa Fe tracks to Almond street through to Palmyra street.

Appearing before the board of city engineers were J. F. Snow, president of the citrus association; H. D. Yost, secretary of the organization; and J. G. Vryach, Santa Ana architect.

The present lines of the building are to be followed in the new building, and the new structure will be set back four feet from the property line. Bids for the structure are to be called in about two weeks' time. The new unit is to be 85 feet by 135 feet and will have a 60-car capacity which may be extended to a 75-car capacity by the use of an additional tier of boxes.

The present plant of the association was built eight years ago and started with the shipping of about 425 cars of fruit, the amount having doubled in that period.

The new unit planned for the future will also include a building to store boxes. When this unit is completed the present lemon unit will be used as an orange unit. Tentative plans for the box storage plant and the new lemon unit show a structure about 175 by 85 feet in dimension.

In closing Marietta place, which formerly extended to the Santa Fe tracks, it was necessary for the citrus association to acquire the property of Roy Cavett at 426 Marietta place and that of C. D. Foster at 432 the same street.

Enrollment For Military Training Camp Under Way

ORANGE, March 11.—Young men of this city who wish to attend the Citizens' Military Training camps this year will have to make reservations early, according to Ray Smith, sanitary inspector of south Orange county, who was recently appointed by the government as county chairman of enrollment.

The two camps for young men are to be held at Fort McArthur from July 2-31 and at Del Monte from July 9 to August 5.

H. O. Wallace and Lieut. Gordon X. Richmond have charge of enrollments from this city. The camps are for young men from 17 to 28 years of age. All expenses are paid.

This year the entire quota from the county has been cut from 35 to 11 young men, and Smith said he believed that in order to attend, reservations should be made before the first of April.

AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIM SEEKS BIG DAMAGES

Damages which it is declared accrued in an automobile crash on West Seventeenth street near Garden Grove road on January 11, 1931, are the basis of a suit which was filed in superior court today by H. H. Harris against Swend Carlson, et al. Harris asks for a total of $26,900 plus loss of wages at $200 monthly.

The plaintiff alleges in the complaint that the defendant operated his car in a careless and negligent manner, causing it to strike the car he was driving as they were approaching in opposite directions. Harris asserts he was injured "internally, externally and permanently" and that his personal injuries have resulted in loss of sleep and weight.

Harris asks $25,000 for personal injuries, $600 for medical and hospital expense, $1000 for damages to his car, $200 for loss of use of the car, and $200 monthly for loss of income.

TO THE HEAD OF THE COMMUNITY CHEST:

I am a widow, 75 years old. I have a little property on East Fourth street, and pay over $300 taxes on it every year. My daughter lives with me and cares for me. As I only get $75 a month it about takes my breath away to think of paying more taxes.

We have saved and scrimped to pay those taxes until it has become a burden. And now others are talking of increasing our taxes, paying the councilmen more salary. Feed them all that come and ask. Feed them although they come from other towns, or states, no matter how far. Put the expenses of the East 4th street subway on to the East 4th street people—when it will benefit the whole town and other towns. What next? I like the Santa Ana Register—a good place to air our troubles. Thank you.

"ENOUGH."

EDITOR REGISTER:

While you Orange County merchants are feeling this depression of business, did you ever stop to realize that maybe there is a remedy for it as far as this community is concerned? Have you ever stopped to consider that every dollar that is deprived from the local craftsman and laborer through unemployment is depriving yourselves of the greatest percentage of that dollar?

You advocate the slogan "Trade at Home," but invariably go outside the county to secure men for the construction of your buildings. There are exceptions, I'll admit, but checking over the building program of the past year or two, a large amount has been done by outside labor, and who, as a rule, drive back and forth from work. And do they spend their weekly wages here in Orange county? Well, hardly. It is spent in the community where they live, as our craftsmen would do if our own business men and county officials would see to it that Orange county men would construct the building within the county, and it would be for the betterment of all.

As far as the different building trades are concerned, there has been enough construction, both large and small, in this county during the last year or so to keep the greater majority of our unemployed mechanics at work if outside help was not brought in. In the past, as well as at the present time, local building trades have been quite overlooked, and a better understanding, more cooperation between the business men and the different craftsmen would be beneficial to both—by cooperation the business men who have influence in the different building projects, whether it is county work or private, would stand behind local labor organizations, and if an outside contractor does a job here, demand a clause in his contract that at least 80 percent of his help be from this locality, and not only demand this clause, but be sure that it is enforced to the letter.

A large percentage of the working class of people in this county depend on building construction for their source of livelihood. And if the greater bulk of the work in the county is done by outside help, as a consequence home labor remains idle.

Do these outside men leave any part of their wages to you merchants in this county? Very little, you will have to admit. To cite an instance on one job—several outsiders lived in tents on the building grounds to keep from paying rent. On returning to work at the beginning of the week they brought in their weekly supply of groceries. Did they patronize any of our local merchants? If they did I never saw nor heard of any receiving blisters on their fingers from ringing up the cash register for sales from men employed outside the county.

This condition has been existing for some time and it is not hard to visualize the amount of money spent for wages to outside help and how little of that eventually returns to help the prosperity of Orange County.

The sooner you business men and county officials realize that by helping to secure the work in this county for our own men, you will not only help them but yourselves as well.

Respectfully submitted,
ARCHIE RIELLY.

GANDHI LEADER TELLS LOCAL GROUPS OF INDIA'S MOTIVES IN NON-VIOLENCE MOVEMENT

Bringing a vivid picture of conditions in India and the Orient and explaining the motives and results of the recent non-violence movement led by Mahatma Gandhi, Haridas Mazumdar, noted author, lecturer and educator made three talks in Orange county yesterday, addressing the assembly at the Santa Ana junior college in the morning, the Santa Ana Rotary club at noon and the Fullerton International Relations Council last night.

At the junior college meeting, Mazumdar spoke on the subject, "Gandhi, the Man and Leader." The appearance of the speaker in Santa Ana was symbolic in that it was virtually the first anniversary of the day when Gandhi, accompanied by Mazumdar, started on the historic march to the sea from Ahmedabad to gather salt which landed him and thousands of followers in jail but which resulted last week in a part victory.

Mazumdar told of the two forces in the Indian struggle, the non-violence of the Indians and asserted violence of the English. He stated that the doctrine of non-violence is based on the mighty principles of Christianity and that the revolution of India will be called the most epoch-making event of history.

"The triumphant victory of India over England was made possible by three factors," Mazumdar stated, "the personality of Gandhi, the self-sacrifice of the people and arousing of the conscience of the human race, including the English."

Denying the English claims that India is greatly benefited by the rule of Great Britain Mazumdar pointed out that six years after the assumption of power by England, the ship building industry of India was completely abolished. In 1925, nearly 33 per cent of the people received school training while 100 years later, less than 10 per cent were given any schooling," he declared.

"The country which was once the greatest and richest in the world is now the poorest," Mazumdar continued. "At the present time, the per capita income of the Indian race is less than five cents a day, and still the English have led the world to believe that their rule over our country is a blessing. This type of imperialism brutalizes people and it is only natural that the masses of India should rise up in revolt," he said.

Mazumdar, who is a graduate of Northwestern university and has been a resident of the United States for 10 years, attributed the success of the non-violence movement to the women. He told how they picketed the liquor and drug establishments and decreased the revenue to the English government from $100,000 in 1929 to $700 in 1930. The women also enforced determination by all the nations. Disarmament conferences were denounced by the speaker as only agreements to junk old and obsolete battleships which are no longer of value, in order to satisfy the demands of the people who want peace, while plans are being made for newer and larger ships to take their places.

"The League of Nations is not the answer to the problem," the speaker declared. "Although the League is attempting to establish peaceful relations, it is doing nothing to give peace or freedom to the Orient."

"The World Court also is only partially effective. Even if the judges were to render a decision which affected the Orient, their decisions would be biased since they would fear the wrath of the western nations if they were to give a judgment favoring the Orient."

"The nations of the Orient are determined to free themselves from the western domination, and they are trying to gain freedom by peaceful means. After the nations have freed themselves it will be their task to develop their industries and then they will be ready to take a part in establishing world peace on an equal basis." The speaker stated that India's method to gain her independence is by love and good will and declared that the people of India will carry on continually items that will mean her independence. He predicted that India will eventually shake off the domination of England and when she does so, she will show the world that non-violent methods are the only methods to use in order to redress wrongs.

That the assumption of a feeling of superiority on the part of the westerners has developed a feeling of animosity on the part of the Orientals, who pointed out that if the Orientals trained their vast population in the use of firearms, the result would be disastrous for the nations of the world.

"It is the duty of all those who want world peace to put forth a co-operative effort to guarantee self-determination for all nations, and before this is done, peace cannot be thought of," Dr. Mazumdar concluded.

Following his talk, the speaker answered numerous questions relating to India and to the problems which are found there. Dr. George H. Gobar, of Fullerton, told of a second world conference of the Association for the Prevention of Narcotic Drugs at Geneva, Switzerland, when methods for limiting the manufacture of the drug for illegal uses will be discussed.

AWARD $4200 FOR WAGNER PROPERTY

A verdict of $4200 for 14 feet from the property owned by William Wagner, located on the northwest corner of the intersection of West Seventeenth and North Main streets, and $500 severance damages, was brought in at 5:45 p. m. Monday by the jury which heard evidence during course of the opening of the trial of the condemnation action brought by the city of Santa Ana to widen West Seventeenth street. Wagner was asking for $10,000. Another hearing in connection with the condemnation proceedings got under way in the same court, that of Judge H. G. Ames, before a jury today, which is to result in setting the value on 15 feet from the north edge of property owned by Sam Hurwitz at the intersection of West Seventeenth street and Broadway. A value of $11,880 was set on the parcel by an expert witness today during the course of the hearing.

Editor Register:

March 10, 1931.

In The Register of Monday, this week, was published an editorial and several news items relating to the proposed "Orange County Water Saving and Replacement District." These articles contained a remarkable number of mistaken statements with the result that a very false idea of the whole matter was conveyed. Among those statements I note the following:

1. "Water salvage areas would exclude fifth district but its supervisor would vote." The proposed district includes a very large portion of the fifth supervisorial district, taking in all of the Tustin and Red Hill sections and the greater part of the Costa Mesa district. A supervisor never resides in all of the cities, or in all of the water districts, or in all of the lighting districts, or in all of the fire districts, or in all of the road districts located in his supervisorial district. Yet he and all of the other members of the board vote on matters involving the interests of these districts. Supervisors are county officers and not district officers. Yet, many different interests and activities in the county must be managed through various kinds of districts.

2. "The provisions of the bill distinctly state that there is nothing contained in the bill that shall interfere with any municipality taking water from this territory." No such statement is made in the act. The bill does contain a provision to the effect that its provisions shall not be construed as affecting the rights and powers of incorporated cities, and those rights and powers could not be taken from incorporated cities even though that statement were not made in the bill. Every municipality is given the right of eminent domain, which does not mean, however, as The Register articles seem to imply, the right of confiscation. Private property cannot be taken for public purposes unless the taking is clearly proved to be a public necessity and the purpose of the taking to supply a public need greater than the use to which the property is being put. This proposed district would have the right and the power to contest any taking of water from Orange county by the city of Long Beach, and without such a district, there is no way of effectively making that contest and fairly distributing among those interested the expense of the contest. This applies to every effort now being made and now being contemplated to raid the water basin of the Santa Ana Valley for supplying localities outside of that basin.

3. The proposed district will include the cities of Santa Ana, Fullerton and Anaheim. "Whereas they will obtain all the water needed for their use from the Metropolitan Water District." Will they? If so, when? The Metropolitan Water District does not as yet own a drop of water. It has acquired no right-of-way. It has no funds with which to begin operations. The district will be very fortunate if it is bringing any water into Southern California from the Colorado river within 10 years. If our water supply continues to diminish at the same rate it has during the past quarter of a century, our cities, as well as the surrounding acreage, will be suffering acutely from water shortage long before the expiration of 10 years. Meantime, without this proposed district, nothing can be done or will be done to relieve the situation by the cities, or by the county, or by the Flood Control district. Furthermore, if and when this Colorado river water is brought to Orange county, it will be far more expensive than any water now used for domestic purposes in our county and its quality will not be equal to that of our cities are now using. In all probability, those cities referred to, in order to save expense and improve quality, will continue to get as much water as possible from the same underground reservoir that are now using and to take as little as possible of the Colorado river water. The cost of that water will be so great that using it to replenish our underground basin, or even using it directly for irrigation, in all probability will be impracticable.

4. "Bonds may be voted by 50 per cent majority rather than two-thirds majority." In that respect, the proposed act is similar to the Flood Control act and nearly all other improvement acts. The proponents of the act are not wedded to the provision and if that objection is seriously made, would be willing to have the word changed to require a two-thirds majority on the voting of bonds.

5. "Cost of sewage reclamation and pumping plants will be much higher than the value of the water so salvaged, especially when compared to the cost at which water may be obtained from the Metropolitan Water District." On whose authority is that statement made? The information I have received from very reliable sources is directly to the contrary. However, even if the statement were true, there is nothing in this proposed act to compel the reclamation of sewage or any other water. It is merely an enabling act and since it will be under the direction of a board of trustees representing all parts of the district, there is not very much danger of unwise and reckless action on the part of that board.

6. "The cities now have provided themselves with water, and it is only the country districts outside of the incorporated cities which have not." The error in that statement is too plain to require comment.

7. "Under the provisions of this act the directors could condemn private water rights in one section of the district that is not combined with this water district and turn this water into the water district." This hazy, ambiguous statement seems to imply that the proposed water saving and replenishment district could take water by condemnation proceedings from portions of the county not included in the district and use it for the benefit of the district. Such a thing would be utterly impractical and foolish even if it were possible, and as above stated, the right of eminent domain does not mean the right of confiscation. The law does not permit the taking of water from one irrigator to use that water. An incorporated city such as Santa Ana might be able, by condemnation proceedings, to take water from the Irvine Ranch for use for domestic purposes in the city, but this proposed district would never be able to do so even if you assume that we might some time have a Board of Supervisors of which a majority was insane enough to attempt to do such a thing.

8. "There is no doubt but what the cities of Anaheim, Fullerton and Santa Ana will protest against the passage of this needless and mischief-working bill." None of these cities, as yet, have condemned the purposes of this act, and if their boards of trustees will take the time and trouble to understand the purposes and meaning of the act, they will all approve of it and surely will do so if its provisions are modified in certain respects so as to prevent possibility of its working out unfairly in practice in any particular, with reference to cities which become members of the Metropolitan Water District. There is no one objecting to the making of any reasonable modification of the terms of the act and it is only those who have some ulterior motive who are objecting to the adoption of this act in any form.

9. "We know of no purpose as being possibly imagined to be achieved under this bill that is not already covered by Orange county being in the Flood Control and Water Conservation district." There is not a single thing provided for in the proposed bill that can be accomplished by Orange county Flood Control district.

10. "If there is additional water required by those sections of the county outside of incorporated cities which are now a part of the Metropolitan Water district, it can be at once obtained by forming themselves into a part of the Metropolitan Water district." Remarkable! Colonel Finley has been making some talks, which, according to newspaper reports, consists of rather vague and general statements to the effect that Orange county as a whole should join the Metropolitan Water district. How that can be done, he does not specify, and if it were done and the millions of dollars of bonded indebtedness, which would be the result, placed upon the county, how would any water obtained from the Colorado river be distributed equitably to the tax payers? How would the property owners of San Clemente, Los Alamitos, Wintersburg, Santiago canyon, Garden Grove and many other sections of the county, be delivered their pro rata share of this expensive water, and since it would cost too much for practical use for irrigation purposes, what would they do with this costly water if they got it?

11. "No petition has been circulated; the bill has simply been drawn without any reference to a request by the people themselves." This bill was prepared at the request of a large number of property owners and water users from different portions of the proposed district. It is an honest effort by those who favor it to do something definitely, economically and promptly toward the protection of the water basin of the Santa Ana valley in Orange county. There are no unfair or unjust motives behind this act at all. If it needs modifying to make its provisions fair and just, there is no objection to any such modifications. If we continue to have every effort that is made for the saving of what little water is left and the replenishment of the vanishing supply blocked by petty jealousies and unfounded fears, the prosperity of our Santa Ana valley will soon come to a sudden end and no amount of Colorado river water brought into our cities can save us.

Respectfully submitted,
H. C. HEAD.

THE SOUTHERN INN, Main at La Veta, between Santa Ana and Orange — We are constantly hearing of this Old Fashioned Fried Chicken, served in an atmosphere redolent with the old fashioned ways, when "rush" was a word used only in matters of life and death, and folks took time to taste their food as well as swallow it. Out among the oranges and peach blossoms, where parking is unrestricted, and the appetite unaffected by warning frowns from "waiting" waiters, there is the Southern Inn, and there are those CHICKEN DINNERS DELUXE—11:30 to 2 and 5 to 9, every day in the week, excepting Monday.

WASHINGTON CLEANERS & DYERS, 1109 N. Main — If clothing is worth cleaning, it is worth cleaning right. "Right" cleaning can only be done where right methods are employed, such as absolutely clean, distilled solvent and efficient equipment. The Washington is ably supplied with both. When people in general come out of the maze of price complex the world in general will be better off. Beware of the too cheap service; of the too cheap commodity. If you would have your money's worth, then take care it is not a penny's worth you get, camouflaged as a dollar's worth.

CHAPMAN'S, at 17th and Main, can carry out your individual ideas for Easter styles in refreshments. Visit this charming store and select delicious, colorful desserts for your Easter functions. Or, if you are planning a boat or motor picnic, your choice of eighteen luscious flavors can be packed in individual portions in dry ice—a novel form of outdoor refreshment.

COCHEMS, The Artist Photographer, 304 N. Sycamore St. A man who has made his photographic studies mean as much probably as the artist of colors and brush. Whether camera or brush, of course the worth of the picture depends upon the artist who conceives and portrays it. Cochems goes farther than a true reproduction of nature and human beings. He endows the subject with emotion as does the artist of the brush and colors. One feels moonlight, dawn and sunset glow in his commercial photography, as one senses the personality of the subject of his artistic portraits.

HOUSE AND GARDEN SHOP, ARCADE BLDG., 515 N. Main — We have a touch of Old Spain in the potted garden, where one finds many rare and interesting plants in individual settings of hand-decorated flower pots. R. A. TIERNAN TYPEWRITER COMPANY, 491 W. Fourth — WITH A CORONA in the house the busy-earning, social, studying family is not handicapped for a reliable place to FIND those small jotted-down records of "what everybody wants to know." A piece of blank wrapping paper, a torn margin of the newspaper, a corner of an envelope, flipped into the Corona and a few words typed saves endless wear and tear on the disposition, to say nothing of bureau drawers and other erstwhile hiding places for such last-minute data.

UTT JUICE COMPANY, Tustin-QUEEN ISABELLA Juices, especially the Golden-hued Tomato Juice and the Pure Fruit Berry Punch, afford the housewife such varied and delightful menus that once she gets to know these famous California grown and manufactured products, she becomes their greatest booster. The big favorite recipe made from Queen Isabella PURE FRUIT BERRY PUNCH is Bavarian Cream: 1 cup Pure Fruit Berry Punch Syrup; 1 cup boiling water; 1 tablespoon plain gelatin. When partly jelled heat thoroughly, fold in 1/2 pint whipped cream. CHILL and serve with whipped cream.

FURNITURE ART SALON, H. G. Myers, Consulting Decorator, Santora Bldg., Broadway at 2nd — The "something new" at the Art Salon this week is not bulky, in the manner that certain occasional chairs, Chinese carved chests, etc., found there are bulky; but there are plenty of these special Easter cards as to quantity, and the variety seems all but limitless. The cards are reasonable in price for hand painted cards, and the same originality that marks everything seen at the Art Salon is apparent in this decorative supply of Easter greeting cards. They say it in a different way.

DR. A. K. LOERCH, JR., Optometrist, 222 N. Broadway — If you are inclined to "go to sleep on the job," chances are you need glasses. Dr. Loerch will not advise glasses unless they are necessary. Testing Baby's Brain Power

How science has found unique ways of learning what goes on inside a child's head, even though the infant may be too young to talk

By ELIZABETH SPENCE

WHAT are baby's secret thoughts? Actually babies understand what is said long before they are able to speak, psychologists have discovered. Wherefore, parents are respectfully reminded to think before they talk in front of even very young infants, and to count 10 or 110 before indulging in a family tiff while the baby looks on. It is a mistake to assume that the young child does not think or feel, merely because he does not speak.

"Blissful as a babe" may not be so blissful as commonly supposed, some of the modern evidence shows. If the babe in mind happens to be less than a month old, the chances are especially against his being a really contented creature. For the moment, Professor Charlotte Buhler concludes from her studies of children in the clinic of the University of Vienna.

From a detailed study of all the baby's actions, day and night, she has become convinced that the predominating feelings during the first month of life are discomfort or fear. She based her conclusions on the things the baby turned toward as if to reach and the things it turned away from as if to avoid. Food appeared to be the only solace of the very young child, whereas he found a variety of things strange and frightening.

That a child of less than a year may even have troubles which he tries to hide was indicated by another experiment. The infant apparently represses his emotion so as not to be a "cry baby." Evidence to this effect was obtained by Dr. Harold Ellis Jones in the Institute of Child Welfare at the University of California by means of a delicate instrument, the D'Arsonval galvanometer. Experiments with adults have shown that the electrical conductivity of the skin changes during the stress of emotion, even when the face betrays no sign and nervous movements of the body are controlled. By recording these changes in the skin, the D'Arsonval galvanometer detects outwardly controlled emotion.

AS THE child develops, the world becomes a less strange place and consequently more pleasant. This difference is illustrated by Professor Buhler by a comparison of the behavior of two, five and eight-month-old babies if a light towel is dropped on the face. The youngest child puts all his force into the effort of moving the towel but to no avail, even though his toes wriggle and all his body struggles in the attempt. The child of five months is less chaotic in his struggles. He grasps in the direction of the towel and may even succeed with great pain and trouble in removing it. When the child has reached the age of eight months, however, the task has become an easy one, and he may even laugh and play while removing the towel.

Pleasure derived from the mastery of a new life adjustment was strikingly illustrated by the antics of a child learning to stand. This child in the Vienna laboratory was so happy in his newly learned accomplishment that he would not lie down to go to sleep and actually went to sleep standing. When the child was awakened by the nurse's attempt to lay him down on the bed, he showed signs of anger and insisted on struggling to his proud, upright position again.

Adults and older children may speak for themselves, but the baby performs keeps his own counsel, save what is told by the language of movement, laughter and tears. Hence the need to observe every action and expression, if a clue to baby thoughts is to be found.

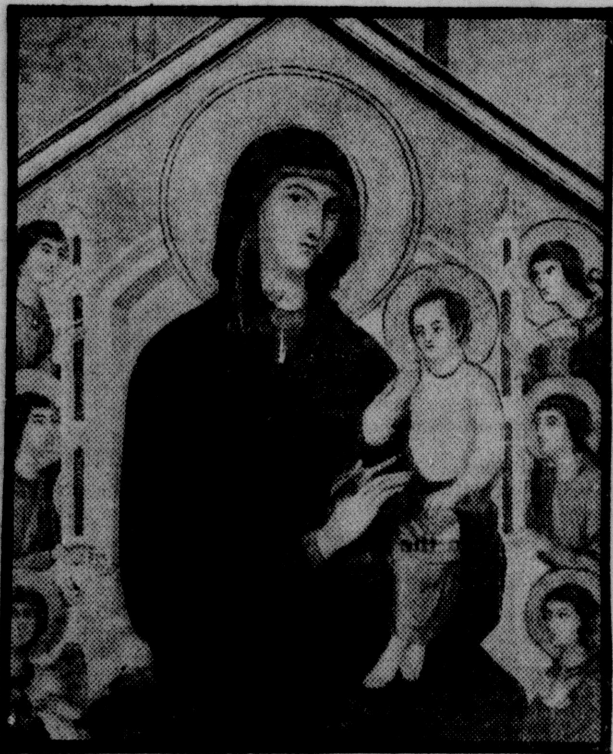

The custom of ancient times was either to overlook the baby's thoughts entirely and conceive of his mind being as blank as his stare or to imagine the mature thoughts and judgment of a sage masked behind those unblinking eyes and that wise silence.

SOME of the pictures of the early masters reveal this habit of thinking of babies as little men and women. How strangely old and sometimes world-weary, the painted infants of centuries gone by appear! And when the dimensions of these antique baby pictures are measured, they are often discovered to be painted like little midgits with the mature and elongated proportions of adulthood instead of the chubby, shortened contours of babyhood. The artists have simply overlooked the fact that babies, even baby saints and emperors, differ from grown-ups in other respects than size.

Modern methods of fact-seeking and seeing recognize important differences between child and adult. New measurements and records are continually being compiled with a view to establishing the exact nature of these differences and, if possible, to determine a normal standard of development from month to month through early infancy.

Very elaborate equipment and technique have been developed in the conduct of these experiments. In a recent study of the first year of life in Vienna, for instance, relays of trained observers under the direction of Professor Charlotte Buhler watched babies of one to 12 months old continuously during 24 hour periods. At night the observers sat in the dim light in which the children were accustomed to sleep and took notes by an electric flashlight which they held so that it would not cast a reflection on the babies.

Dr. Arnold Gesell, who is studying infants at the Psycho-Clinic of Yale University, utilizes elaborate observation domes. These are igloo-like structures made with fine white wire screen, which resembles a solid wall on the inside but is transparent from the outside. When placed over the infant's crib, these domes allow free circulation of air.

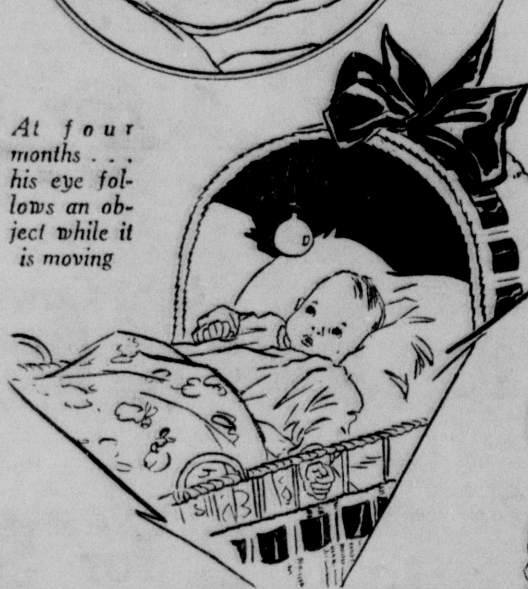

Medieval painters were often more devout than accurate . . . in this Madonna and Child by Giovanni Cimabue . . . note the mature proportions of the Child, even to long-tapering fingers. . . . Everyone today knows that babies are not much like that.

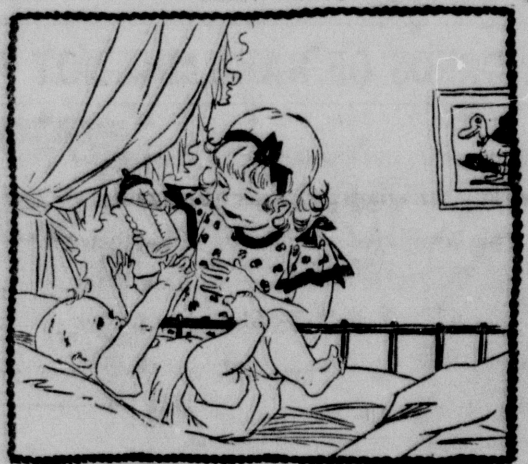

At two months baby stares solemnly back at person caring for him

At three months baby smiles, and his intelligence begins to dawn.

At four months . . . his eye follows an object while it is moving

At five months . . . he grasps for an object in view with his hands

At six months sits up without support.

At seven months begins to crawl.

At eight months chooses the toys he wants.

At 10 months . . . stands without support.

At 11 months . . . child raises himself to get object above head.

At nine months . . . he can distinguish people, speaks first words.

When the baby is four months old, he has so developed socially that he expresses displeasure when an adult stops playing with him. Mentally he has advanced to the point of active looking about in a new situation, of looking at a moving object and imitating facial expressions.

After five months in the world, the infant imitates friendly and angry facial expressions. If he loses a toy, he looks for it and if the plaything is taken from him, he exhibits a defense reaction in protest. His increased bodily control permits him to turn from back to side and to grasp an object in view with one hand. Sitting with support and the ability to distinguish between friendly and angry talking are achievements at six months. Showing displeasure at unsuccessful grasping and imitating sounds are other characteristics of behavior at this age level.

The seven-month-old child begins crawling. He now responds to angry and pleasant facial expressions, with his own little gestures of rage or friendliness which show the graces are not a mere imitation.

CRAWLING and sitting alone are characteristics of physical development of the average infant at eight months. One sign of his developing mentality is revealed by the child's commencing to choose his toys instead of accepting without choice the one presented to his attention. If the chosen toy is removed, the child shows signs of displeasure and persists in his mood for a while thereafter.

At nine months, the infant is so aloof from strangers that he must become acquainted before he extends his usual greetings. He also tries to arouse the attention of adults upon occasion and shows that he understands simple gestures made to him. His mental activity is evidenced by curiosity to see a hidden object.

For the 10-month-old baby, Professor Buhler has devised a simple memory test. A toy, consisting of a ball and box, was given the child to play with for five minutes. This was then taken away and the box returned after 30 seconds with the ball missing. If the child remembers, he looks for the ball and shows surprise because it is gone. At 10 months, the child is able to stand with support.

At the end of 11 months, the child is mentally advanced to the point of pulling an object from the floor by the string which moors the toy to his cradle. He has learned to be afraid of unfamiliar things and imitates sounds. If a toy is held above the child in such a way that he cannot reach it from a lying position he is able to raise himself to a sitting position to grasp it.

These are only a few of the baby's accomplishments, now that he has enjoyed the advantages of almost a year's growth and experience in the world.

The mother or older sister who has watched a baby, all these minutely described movements and gestures seem too familiar and everyday affairs in a baby's life to constitute a psychology test. Professor Buhler purposely patterned her tests on the ordinary day-by-day life of the infant, for after all, children have to live in a day-by-day world and adapt themselves to it.

There is more to life than merely being able to solve some arbitrary problem, and so the tests take into account the baby's physical control, his sociability, and his skill in handling objects, as well as his budding powers of reason.

Simple and natural as the tests are, the psychologists were careful not to apply them as an arbitrary index of a baby's development. Thus the children were not judged alone by the score they made on their own age level test but were allowed to show their skill in performing the tests for children a month older and a month younger than themselves. Failure to perform a part of the age test is not to be taken as a sure sign that the child is backward. For because a baby is behind his age in some things, is no sign that he may not be in advance of his age in others.

CHILDREN WILL OFFER VARIOUS RADIO PROGRAM

Eleven talented young entertainers will present a program of instrumental and vocal selections over KREG from 5:30 to 6 p. m. today, under the direction of Lorene Croddy. Harmonica, violin, steel guitar and piano numbers, coupled with vocal solos, duets and readings, will give plenty of variety and interest to the broadcast.

Duncan Harnois, pianist, will be heard during the Shoppers' Guide program, on the air from 6 to 6:45 p. m. The radio guide, which will outline further programs, will be on the air from 6:45 to 7 p. m., with the day's news.

A program of phonograph records, sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and company, will be heard from 7:15 to 7:30 p. m. and a studio program will be on the air from 7 to 7:15 p. m.

Lenten services will be broadcast by remote control from the First Congregational church, from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. Dr. H. F. Swartz, president of the Pacific School of Religion, will be the principal speaker.

From 8:30 to 9:30 p. m. Velma Ledin, pianist, Glen Rayhawk, musical saw artist, and Alice Baker, accompanist, will present a program sponsored by the Lacy Furniture store, 506 North Broadway, and H. R. Trott, watch and clock specialist.

E. W. Buck's Moose orchestra, broadcasting by remote control from the Moose hall, will be heard from 9:30 to 10 p. m.

ANAHEIM LISTENER ENJOYS WOMEN'S HOUR OVER KREG

One of the many women who tune in daily and enjoy the Women's Hour, with Genevieve Knox, presented over KREG from 10 to 10:30 p. m., expressed her appreciation today in a letter to the radio station.

In her letter, Katherine H. Steward, 321 North Philadelphia street, Anaheim, said:

"I have listened with interest to your new feature, the Women's Hour, conducted by Genevieve Knox. I especially enjoy the household hints and also am glad to learn of specific bargains offered by the dealers in your community.

"It is a pleasure to listen to the conductress of this hour. Her voice and radio personality are unusually magnetic."

RADIO LISTENER IN LAND OF 'LIQUID SUNSHINE' TUNES IN ON VOICE OF ORANGE EMPIRE

Away out in Honolulu, where "liquid sunshine" and rainbows chase each other across the sky, David Pattulo sat down at his radio and tuned in on KREG. He heard the Black Gold orchestra and singing trio.

Oddly enough the number that reached him across more than 2000 miles of space was "On a Little Street in Honolulu," among others which he listed in his letter asking for confirmation of his reception.

"The sponsor," said Pattulo's letter, "was the Lacy Furniture company. Your program came in nicely, with fair volume." The date on which Pattulo tuned in was February 19, "at about 5:45 p. m. here (8:15 p. m. Pacific time)."

And so the entertainment and news of artists and advertisers on the Santa Ana station carry their messages and the Voice of the Orange Empire not only to thousands in Orange county but to listeners in cities thousands of miles away.

PIANISTS AND SAW ARTIST ON RADIO PROGRAM

Entertainers who are well known to KREG listeners and who always offer a pleasing and varied program, will be heard tonight when Velma Ledin, pianist, and Glen Rayhawk, musical saw artist, appear with Alice Baker as accompanist for the latter.

Their broadcast will be heard from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m. and will be sponsored by the Lacy Furniture store, 506 North Broadway, and H. R. Trott, of the watch and clock department of the Lacy store.

Listeners who have been tuning in regularly on this program will notice the change in time for tonight's broadcast, which the sponsors have authorized in order that the Lenten services from the First Congregational church may be broadcast by remote control.

The Lacy store and H. R. Trott will give away several valuable articles in the near future, which are on display in the Lacy store window. Announcements of interest to shoppers also are made on the daily broadcasts.

GOITER RELIEF DISCUSSED IN RADIO ADDRESS

"What prospects of immediate relief and ultimate cure can be held out to the person having goiter? Quite naturally this question assumes great importance to the individual having the disease. However, for his peace of mind it may be said that, under skillful medical guidance, the prospects of complete relief are usually very promising," Dr. H. K. Sutherland, county health officer, stated in a speech given over KREG last night.

Continuing, Dr. Sutherland said, "Many lay observers are capable of recognizing the evidences of prevalent disease, this is particularly true of goiter. However, the mistake should not be made of usurping the functions of a trained physician.

"It is too common impression that goiter, which is the prominent outward evidence of disease of the thyroid gland, is merely an unsightly yet harmless lump in the neck. It should be realized that this swelling in the forepart of the neck is often the local manifestation of a general systematic disturbance.

"There are several kinds of goiter, so-called simple goiter is frequently found among adolescent girls. Symptoms are slight irritability, nervousness, and fatigue. Many of these goiters disappear without intentional treatment but appropriate medication is generally advised.

"Another type of goiter is the nodular or lumpy type. This variety, while preventable, may become actively poisonous or toxic after remaining dormant for years, causing much damage to vital organs.

It should be remembered that iodine, a valuable drug in the treatment of simple goiter, is likely to be harmful to a patient having nodular goiter.

"Still another type is the so-called exophthalmic or 'bulgy eye' goiter. This disease, which is usually marked by enlargement of the thyroid gland, quickening of the heart action, protruding eyes and tremor, causes a general systematic poisoning. Obviously persons with this form of goiter are in imperative need of the best possible medical advice.

"For some goiters, operation is an accepted form of treatment. However, patients confronted by such an ordeal will be buoyed up by the knowledge that recovery is usually rapid, the results quite gratifying and the possibility of an unfavorable outcome slight. For other goiters medical treatment is indicated.

"The progress which has been made in treating goiter successfully is easily one of the greatest achievements of scientific medicine."

Dr. Swartz Will Be Heard Tonight

An address by Dr. H. F. Swartz, president of the Pacific School of Religion, will be one of the outstanding features to be broadcast over KREG tonight. The talk will be the principal one to be given during the Lenten services at the First Congregational church, of which the Rev. Perry F. Schroyer is pastor. The services will be on the air from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m.

Musical entertainment will include a 10-minute organ recital by Alan A. Revell.

Dr. Swartz, who is an educational leader, will speak on the subject "In God We Trust."

ALL FORD CARS ARE EQUIPPED WITH SHATTER-PROOF GLASS WINDSHIELDS

FOR greater safety in driving, every Ford car is equipped with a Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield. By reducing the dangers of flying glass it has saved many lives and prevented countless injuries in automobile accidents.

The value of this important safety factor has been known for years, but its use has been limited by expense. It is brought to you on the Ford as standard equipment only because of the efficiency and economy of Ford methods. Much pioneering work has been done in finding ways to manufacture in large volume at low cost.

It is interesting to know how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield of the Ford is made and why it gives so much extra protection. The process of manufacture requires many separate operations, yet it can be explained in a few simple words.

Two pieces of plate glass, carefully ground and polished, are covered on one side with a thin coating of gelatine. This coating is baked hard, sprayed with liquid celluloid, and treated with a solvent.

Then, between the two pieces of glass, like the middle of a sandwich, is inserted a layer of special celluloid. This also has been treated with a solvent.

When heat and pressure are applied to the glass sandwich, this solvent helps to dissolve the surfaces in contact and they are actually fused together. It is almost like a welding process. The result is a single sheet of beautiful, clear, laminated glass. The final operation is sealing the edges as protection against air and moisture.

This laminated windshield will withstand a 50% harder impact before breaking than plate glass of equal thickness, and is more flexible under impact. When struck by an unusually hard blow, it will crack, but the danger from flying glass is minimized because the pieces adhere to the layer of celluloid.

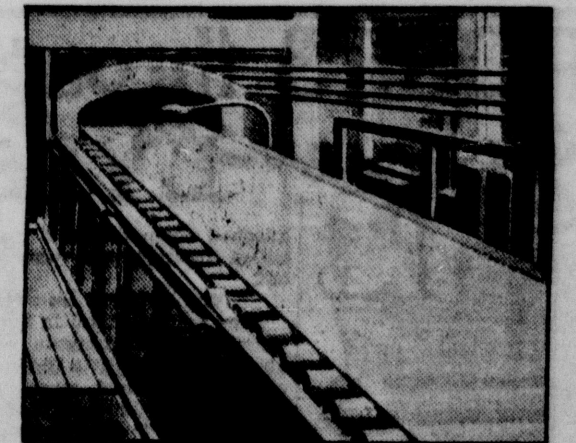

The greatest care is taken to insure uniform high quality. Plate glass is used for clear vision. One sheet in 150 is taken for test. For the impact test, a heavy steel ball is dropped sixteen feet to the center of a large sheet.

Other samples are subjected to ultra-violet rays and infra-red rays which give, in a few hours, an exposure equal to several years of normal driving. This is done to check the effect of the sun's rays and heat on the crystal clearness of the glass in actual use.

Many improvements have been made in the past three years so that today, Triplex shatter-proof glass is recognized as one of the greatest contributions to safety since four-wheel brakes. High speed and crowded traffic emphasize the need of the protection it affords. It is just another instance of the extra value in the Ford.

The Ford Tudor Sedan $490 TWELVE OTHER BODY TYPES FROM $430 TO $630

Thirteen Million Square Feet of Glass
The Ford Motor Company was the pioneer in making glass by a continuous machine process. Its manufacturing economies and unusual facilities make it possible to give you Triplex shatter-proof glass in the Ford without extra cost. The Rouge plant alone has a capacity of 13,000,000 square feet of glass annually. This calls for 27,000,000 pounds of silica sand, 8,500,000 pounds of soda ash, 7,900,000 pounds of limestone, 1,820,000 pounds of salt cake, 6,136,000 pounds of cullet, 78,000 pounds of charcoal, and 156,000 pounds of arsenic. For grinding and polishing, the machines use 118,440,000 pounds of sand, 7,873,000 pounds of stucco, 2,715,000 pounds of garnet, and 724,000 pounds of rouge.

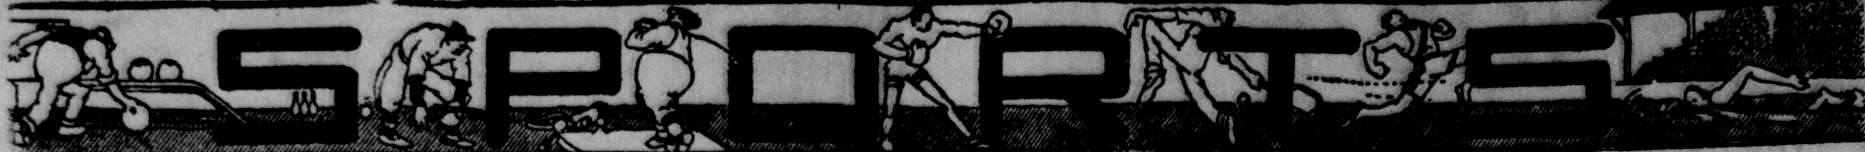

No Flying Glass Here
A woman and three children were in this Ford when a passing car upturned a horseshoe in the road and sent it crashing into the windshield. No one was hurt because there was no flying glass.

The Impact Test
A heavy steel ball is dropped sixteen feet on the glass used for the Ford windshield as an impact test. Even under this severe blow there is no flying glass.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS - - - - - By LAUFER

ONE BADLY pitched ball, which Babe Ruth hit out of the park, cost Lee Fohl his job as manager of the Cleveland club and sent Southpaw Fritz Coumbe back to the minors. Cleveland was leading New York by three runs when the Yankees filled the bases. It was the Babe's only slow balls. Coumbe breezed the first slow one right through the middle and Ruth parked it over the wall. That night found Coumbe in a sleeper, bound for the bushes. Shortly after that Fohl was relieved of his job.

SPORTS through Edgren's EYES

knocked down time and again by a lot of fighters, but never knocked out.

The Original Iron Man

They started Grim in against the ordinary middleweights in Philadelphia, he being a middleweight, and when he took everything they could hand out and bounced up laughing every time he was knocked down, the clubs began sending for noted sluggers. Joe Gans, Sam Langford and a score of other wall-walkers failed to knock Grim out.

The night Grim was put in against Fitzsimmons 1st close to the ring and marveled at the India rubber qualities of the former boot-black. Fitz knocked him down with side-swiping punches on the chin. He flattened him with thumps over the eye-tooth, on either side. He dropped him with sledgehammer taps on the side of the head and back of the ear. He dropped him hard with his famous solar plexus punch. Every time Grim got up—a little bit slowly now and then, but up just the same well within ten seconds—and sailed into Fitz with both arms swinging. Now and then Grim got up and made a speech to the crowd. "You see," he'd chirp, "he no can knocka me out. Nobody can knocka me out. I challenge the Jeff."

A quizzical look came into Bob's blue eyes after he had flattened Joe 16 times with his best assortment of knockout punches, and in the sixth round—the last—he was plainly holding his punches back. I saw him in the dressing room and asked if he had hurt his hands. I couldn't figure Fitz falling with a k. o. for any other reason.

"No," said Bob. "My 'ands are all right. It came into my 'ead after I'd dropped 'im sixteen times that if 'e ever was knocked out 'e'd never get up alive—'e'd be that far gone. And 'e was so dead game that by the last round I sort of 'ated to knock 'im out anyway."

After a few months the invincible McLarnin was matched with Billy Petrolle, a young fellow with a pretty good record but generally overlooked. Petrolle gave Jimmy a boxing lesson, beat the hard-slugging British Columbian without the slightest trouble in the world.

Turn Down Rematch

In a few weeks McLarnin, who had gone home for a rest, was offered $60,000 to return to New York and fight Petrolle again. Jimmy's manager turned the offer down, saying that McLarnin had grown heavier and wouldn't make weight for the "Fargo Express" again. So Petrolle fought a young fellow named Henry Tuttle, and better known as King Tut.

King Tut knocked Petrolle out in twenty seconds!

All this shows that you can't judge these things by the "dope." According to this little series of bouts King Tut would outclass Sammy Mandell so far that there'd be no sense at all in putting them into the same ring. Yet it is a matter of record that Mandell beat at least two fighters who defeated King Tut.

Yes, lots of funny things happen in the ring. There was Bob Fitzsimmons, who knocked out Jim Corbett for the heavyweight championship of the world, and was undoubtedly by far the greatest middleweight that ever drew on a glove. Fitzsimmons was taken down to Philadelphia once to knock out an Italian bootblack known as Joe Grim. This Grim had been fighting around a bit, and had been

NAVY IGNORES ARMY N GRID SCHEDULE PLAN

NEW YORK, March 11.—Hope for an early football reconciliation between the United States Naval and Military academies was knocked into something closely resembling a cooked hick recently when midshipmen officials announced details of a new gridiron agreement with Columbia university.

The new pact calls for games in 1932 and 1933, the first to be played at Baker field, New York, the second in Annapolis. The 1932 game is certain to be the final tilt on Columbia's schedule and the '33 affair at Annapolis is expected to windup the Sailors' season.

The agreement with Columbia all but eliminates any hope of an Army-Navy truce, for several reasons. In the first place the Columbia game, especially the one in New York gives the Midshipmen a definite objective—something they have lacked since the parting of the ways with the Cadets.

It is pretty generally understood that the Navy, which has never played in New York contests aside from those with the Army, has been seeking a game to give its players a "fancy game" in the big town with such teams as Notre Dame and Illinois.

The Columbia pact gives the Navy just such a counter-attraction. The Lions, on the upgrade, are popular in New York. So are the midshipmen with their color and fight. A game between the two institutions is certain to prove one of the season's highlights, and draw a fancy gate.

In the second place the games, or games with Columbia, just about fills the Navy schedule—a schedule which already includes such attractive games as Notre Dame, Princeton and Pennsylvania. Moreover, the Columbia series is likely to develop into a permanent fixture, making a game with Army even more unlikely.

The charity game last year with Army did nothing to heal the breach between the two schools. Both resented being coerced into playing by outside interests.

The 1932 game will mark the resumption of football relations between Columbia and the Navy after a period of 30 years. It was on November 19, 1902 that the two institutions last met, Columbia winning 5 to 0. There were also games in 1906 and 1907, Columbia winning 11 to 0 and 6 to 5.

CHICO SIGNS WITH S. A. Pasadena Defeats Santa Ana

PAUL JACQUES DANERI SHINE: 880 THRILLER

Yielding only five first places—of which four were earned by the two Saint axes, Jim Daneri and Captain Paul Jacques—Pasadena junior college, lower division, scored a comparatively easy 66 1-2-44 1-2 dual meet victory over Santa Ana high school's track team here yesterday.

Pasadena also won the Class B meet which was held in conjunction, 55 to 44.

Daneri personally accounted for 15 points with victories in the 220 yard low hurdle, the shot and discus. His marks were not exceptional although he reached a new high for the season in the shot, 45 feet, 5 inches. Traversing the low hurdles in 26.5, Daneri was all by himself at the finish and probably could have run faster. His throw of 109 feet, 6 inches in the discus was almost ten feet short of his season's best.

Captain Jacques again was an easy winner in the high jump, all his opponents going out at 5 feet, 8 inches. The bar was raised two inches and Jacques skinned over on his first attempt. Then he scaled two inches higher, again on his first attempt. The bar was hoisted to 6:2, with Jacques barely missing on several trials. The best he cleared was 5:11 3-4, by actual measurement.

Half Is Feature Race

Jacques also tied for first with Saint's collegian "Toy" Blower and Kollo Suddith at 10 feet, 6 inches in the pole vault and grabbed a third to "Red" Kidder and Goldsworthy of Pasadena in a 17-foot flight of high hurdles.

By far the best of what otherwise was a series of almost featureless flat races was the half-mile and its desperate fight for first place between gritty Ray Cartwright of Santa Ana and Norene of Pasadena. The duel was so exciting that it even "got" an old head like "Tex" Oliver, head of the Santa Ana physical education department and only timer of the event. Oliver forgot to stop his ticker as Cartwright and Norene plunged across the finish-line, with Norene a winner by inches. It is doubtful whether the race was run much under 2:10, however, due to a slow first lap.

Abreast, Norene and Cartwright sprinted the last 175 yards in a driving finish unequalled at Poly field in recent years. Tom Chapman, another Saint, was a close-up third.

Legless Boy Pitcher For College Nine

NEW YORK, March 11.—A legless pitcher may become a regular with the Fordham freshman baseball team.

He is John Dollard who worked out with the college squad today and proved effective despite the fact his limbs are artificial.

Last year in a Brooklyn prep school, Dollard pitched his team to high school association championship.

Doped to suffer their third successive dual meet defeat, the Santa Ana junior college Dons will gather up poles, spiked shoes and other track paraphernalia and set off for Pasadena junior college Friday afternoon instead of Saturday, as originally scheduled.

Coaches of the two schools decided to hold the meet Friday because several members of both squads have employment on Saturday. Santa Ana has already lost to Long Beach, 99-27 and Compton, 80-42, while Pasadena has had only one meet, a crushing victory over Fullerton, 102 1-2 to 28 1-2 last week.

The Pasadena aggregation boasts overwhelming strength on the track but is not quite so strong in the field events. Fullerton was able to snare only three firsts and three seconds but the Dons should garner a few more blue ribbons. Lack of manpower, however, will make it impossible for Santa Ana to win against the largest school in the Jaycee conference.

Coach Bill Cook will be without the services of Lee Dresser, his best quarter-mile, who transferred to Oregon State last week. The rest of the squad will be intact and much the better for an additional week of practice on their exceedingly limited period of drill so far this year.

MORENO READY FOR DE MILLE BOUT THURSDAY

Tony Moreno and Augie DeMille both completed training activities today for their six-round main event at the Orange County Athletic club tomorrow night.

DeMille, a Culver City youngster with decisions over both Tommy McGough and Huerta Evans, Olympic semi-final boxers, has been working desperately for the Moreno spot for he feels a first rate showing against the Placentian will entitle him to further features here.

Moreno has been installed an early favorite over DeMille, but the odds are entirely unwarranted. Tony, while a good two-fisted fighter and a game one, has not had the experience of DeMille and it is doubtful whether he hits as hard either.

Considerable interest is manifest in the semi-windup which finds the rugged Joe Contreras, a blue-eyed Mexican from San Diego, meeting T. N. O'Hara, the same fellow who knocked out Paul Gomez at Delhi last Thursday night. Contreras hasn't shown here in almost a year but most of the fans remember him as the sturdy conqueror of "Wild Man" Macias, Jimmie Rivers and several other good numbers.

The third six-rounder of the program pairs Howard Fritz, a main-event last week, with Leonard Bennett, a slugger who hasn't been here for several months. Bennett fought at the Olympic three weeks ago.

Frankie Torndorff vs. "Lucky" Baldwin, "Bull" Caraway vs. Tommy Thiel, and Pete Villanova vs. Ned Herman complete the card. These bouts are all four-rounders.

Pick Harman As Coach Of Penn Eleven

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—Harvey Harman, a former lineman at the University of Pittsburgh, is to become the new football coach at the University of Pennsylvania.

Appointment of Harman, a protégé of "Pop" Warner, the Stanford coach, was announced by Dr. E. LeRoy Mercer, dean of physical education.

Harman, who coached last year at the University of the South, Sawane, Tenn., has been engaged for one year. He succeeds Lud Wray, resigned.

PHIL SCHROTT TO JOIN STARS WITH PITCHER

Pitcher Joe Ochoa and Infielder Phil Schrott, former members of the Anaheim night baseball club, signed contracts today with the Santa Ana Stars.

At the same time, officials of the local club announced receipt of the signed papers of Bill Hunter, third baseman, the only member of last year's championship aggregation previously unsigned.

Ochoa and Schrott were released Monday by Anaheim, along with First Baseman Lou Schrott, Phil's brother, after a meeting of National Night league club owners and managers. All three men had differences with the Anaheim management.

Ochoa Former S. A. Pitcher

Ochoa, who is employed in Santa Ana, formerly pitched for the Stars but Schrott will be a newcomer in the spangles of the Southern California champions. All his previous experience in night ball was obtained at Anaheim where he has been the regular third baseman of the Valencians several years.

Signing of Ochoa gives the stars a well balanced pitching staff, one stronger than last year when "Jumping Joe" Cornelius had to bear the brunt of all the work. Cornelius will be back again as first string gunner, of course, but the assistance of the experienced Ochoa, a fast-ball slinger, figures to make the Stars a much better organization. Ochoa has all the calm assurance of a veteran and the fire of youth. His fast ball is something to hear. It fairly whines past a batsman.

Where Schrott will play is not known but it is probable he will be the club's utility man. He is able to fill any infield position except first base and can move into the outfield also.

Hunter Cinch to Play Third

With the signing of the talented Hunter, night ball's finest fielding third baseman, there is no chance for Schrott to play the hot spot here and Manager George Lackaye intends to transform Darwin ("Scotty") Scott, Hunter's understudy last summer, into a second baseman. Scott played second base during the championship series with Colton with all the enthusiasm that seemed to be missing from his work at third base, and his hitting perked up too. Realization that he has a regular position is expected to restore Scott's confidence and make him again the dangerous batsman of 1928 and 1929 when he was the best straightaway hitter on the team.

Just who will be the Stars' first baseman remains more or less of a mystery to all hands, Manager Lackaye included.

Bill Cole still insists he is positively through and that his work this year would be limited to occasional coaching or pinch-hitting. There has been a lot of talk that Randolph Bell, the lucky outfielder, will be used at the initial crack but this would mean that the crack outfield of Bell, Wayne Nelson and "Rosy" Merrill would be broken, and Lackaye is known to be against such a move unless it is necessary.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

(By United Press)

Manager George Burns of the San Francisco Missions, pinch-hitting for "Red" Killefer while the latter recovers from an operation, was in Woodland today arranging exhibition games and dicker for a strong shortstop.

The exhibitions will be with the Seattle Indians now training at Woodland, while the shortstop negotiations were with the Detroit Tigers, who came down from Sacramento for a contest with the Indians.

The Portland Beavers also were among those arranging for practice tilts, their next being with the Pittsburgh Pirates at Paso Robles Sunday. The Beavers will leave San Jose with Pitchers Posedel, Walters, Bowman and Salomonis, Catchers Fitzpatrick and Lipanovic, Infielders Fenton, Ebner, Hale, Wuestling and Outfielders Summa, Colman and Plagstad. The balance of the squad will be led by Larry Woodall in a game with the San Jose All-Stars at San Jose.

Manager "Buddy" Ryan ordered an intensive drill for the Sacramento Infielders today. The team was put through the first hard test of the season at Moring field, Sacramento, yesterday.

William Klepper, owner of the Seattle Indians, took a hand in club affairs by signing Herb McQuaid, former Oakland hurler, who reported as "Woodland today."

The Oakland Oaks will have Harlin Pool, former Phoenix catcher, on the list of regulars this year, according to Manager Carl Zamick.

Alex Gaston removed his name from the San Francisco Seals' retired list today by reporting for practice at Monterey.

TAMPA—President Sidney Well of the Cincinnati Reds is reported to be negotiating with the St. Louis Cardinals for a trade involving Charley Dressen, holdout infielder.

NEW ORLEANS—The Cleveland Indians were scheduled to meet New Orleans today in the third of an exhibition game series. Oral Hildebrand, rookie pitcher, has been named to hurl for the Indians.

CATALINA ISLAND—The Chicago Cubs regulars will oppose the yankees today in the final practice game before departing for the mainland to play a series of exhibition games. The Cubs will remain on the island Thursday but will engage only in batting and fielding practice, Manager Hornsby announced.

PASO ROBLES—Outfielder Paul Waner has notified Manager Jewel Ems that he will arrive here Friday to join the Pirates in spring training. Waner has not signed a contract but is expected to come to terms soon. Ems said the Outfielder Adam Comorosky will join the squad tomorrow. He was detained in Pittsburgh because of an infectious rash. Ems said he has not heard from Larry French, holdout pitcher.

TUMMOND SECTION WINS AT LATHROP

BY JACK PEGUES

In the midst of division of inter-class track meet at Julia C. Lathrop Junior high school, Miss Tummond's section received the long count with 13 1-2 points. Miss Sinks's section placed second place with 9 1-2, Miss Foster's section third with 8 and Miss Blyth's section fourth with 5 1-2.

Paul Wolven and "Mat" Brown took high point honors with 9 digits apiece.

Tomorrow the Intermediate track meet will be re-run due to several errors made in scoring last Thursday.

The results:

75 yard dash—Wolven, first, 9:03 seconds; Wise, second, 10 sec; Brooks third, 10:01 sec.; Birdsall, fourth, 10:02 sec.

High jump—Hawk, first, 4 ft. 3 ins.; Brown, second, 4 ft. 2 ins.; Birdsall, third, 4 ft. 1 ins.; Brooks, fourth, 4 ft. 1 ins.

Pole vault—M. Brown, first, 6 ft. 8 ins.; Birdsall, second, 6 ft. 6 ins.; Brooks, third, 6 ft. 6 ins.; W. Crawford, fourth, 6 ft. 3 ins.; W. Brown, fourth, 6 ft. 2 ins.

Broad jump—Baker, first, 13 ft. 5 ins.; Wolven, second, 13 ft. 2 ins.; Morton and Spelt tie for third, 13 ft. 1 in.

Shot put—Wise, first, 22 ft. 5 ins.; Nitta, second, 20 ft. 11 ins.; M. Brown, third, 20 ft. 3 ins.; Wolven, fourth, 18 ft. 10 ins.

Wolven and Brown seem to be holding down the shortstop berth in a satisfactory manner, although McCarthy likes the work of Bill Werber, the collegian from Duke who made a good showing with the team last year and batted .844 in 84 games with the Albany, N. Y., club.

McCarthy intends to keep his former protegee, Earle Combs, in center field all season but four men are battling for the left field berth. They are Myril Hoag, expensive rookie from Sacramento; Fred Walker, from Jersey City and "Dusty" Cooke and Sam Byrd, holdovers. Hawk seems to be leading the competition at present.

The Yankees, who used to loaf through their citrus belt engagements under the Huggins regime, are being driven at top speed by their new pilot. Losing any game, even an exhibition contest, grieves McCarthy as much as it does John McGraw.

WORLD MILE MARK MENAGED SATURDAY

NEW YORK, March 11.—(UP)—The belated entry of Carl Coan, Pennsylvania junior, in the mile race at Saturday's Knights of Columbus games at Madison Square Garden today assured the best field of runners that ever has gone to the post in any indoor race of that distance.

Coan is the fifth and final entrant in the limited field which will include Ray Conger, Illinois, A. C. Leo Lermond, Boston, A. C.; George Bullwinkle, C. C. N. Y., and Gene Venzke, Swedish-American A. C. Every man in the field except Bullwinkle has run the mile in competition under 4:14 and track followers believe that the meeting of the five stars will produce a new world indoor record.

The present record of 4:12 was established by Paavo Nurmi at Buffalo, N. Y., March 7, 1926, and equalled 10 days later by Joey Ray of Chicago in old Madison Square Garden. At that time it was predicted that the record would stand for all time and five years of strenuous competition have failed to eclipse the standard.

LOCKYER EXTENDS LARY

Lyn Lary seems to be holding down the shortstop berth in a satisfactory manner, although McCarthy likes the work of Bill Werber, the collegian from Duke who made a good showing with the team last year and batted .844 in 84 games with the Albany, N. Y., club.

McCarthy intends to keep his former protegee, Earle Combs, in center field all season but four men are battling for the left field berth. They are Myril Hoag, expensive rookie from Sacramento; Fred Walker, from Jersey City and "Dusty" Cooke and Sam Byrd, holdovers. Hawk seems to be leading the competition at present.

Oil Leasing Campaign Launched At West Newport

450 LOTS IN AREA BOUGHT FOR COMPANY

NEWPORT BEACH, March 11.—The Nuoli company, through Frank Gesel, president, has purchased 450 lots east of the Santa Ana river bridge and to the bluffs near the service station at the junction of Coast highway and the Newport road.

Nuoli is seeking leases on 2000 lots from Thirty-sixth street to the city limits of Newport. These lots are all in the area restricted against oil drilling. The lots purchased by Gesel are outside the restricted area. If the 2000 lots wanted in a community lease are signed up, Nuoli probably will undertake a restriction fight in an effort to open the lots to drilling.

This will come, of course, after Nuoli has proven the oil field on its own property up to the city limits. Lot owners of the Newport restricted area have received letters from Nuoli inviting them to enter into conference concerning the lease. Many are signing the lease. Many are signing the lease.

Placentia Play Attracts Crowd

PLACENTIA, March 11.—The auditorium of the Placentia union grammar school was crowded when the musical comedy, "Crocodile Island," was repeated Monday evening.

Mrs. Florence Arnold, director of the play, and other teachers who assisted in the production, received much credit for their work.

Blames Saki Troubles On Weather

ANAHEIM, March 11.—K. Watanabe, Japanese farmer from Westminster, who was fined $200 yesterday in the justice court by Judge Charles Kuchel on a possession of liquor charge, entered a most unique plea when he appeared to answer to the charge.

Through an interpreter, he told the judge that the reason he had over 200 gallons of saki on hand was because he had to make it in warm weather and could not make it in cold weather. He claimed that he made it only for his own consumption, and drank on an average of a quart a day.

He was taken to the county jail yesterday but was expected to pay his fine today.

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS TAKEN UP AT MESA

COSTA MESA, March 11.—With the thought in mind of working out some method of overcoming the parking congestion in front of the business houses on Newport boulevard between Eighteenth street and Broadway, a group of business men met in the offices of Dr. C. G. Huston last night.

A mass meeting will be called in the near future to talk over some of the more important projects. At last night's meeting were Dr. Huston, Charles Dunn, M. L. Daniels, Roy Davis, Fred Fawcett, P. A. Daley, Fred Meyers, C. J. Lewis, Bert Ellis, Charles TeWinkle and Lloyd Willcutt.

NEW DIRECTOR APPOINTED FOR BEACH C. OF C.

NEWPORT BEACH, March 11.—Hugh Dimit, Newport Beach business man, is the new director of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, named by the other directors last evening to act for the rest of this year, taking the place of Lawrence S. Wilkinson, deceased.

Dimit is well known in both Newport and Balboa, having formerly been connected with Charles H. Way, Balboa merchant and also a chamber director, and for the last several years having been in business for himself in Newport Beach.

Steve Smith, chairman of the chamber's committee on recreation and entertainment, reported that arrangements are proceeding satisfactorily for Easter week. Bicycle stunts and races are being planned by Ray E. Saunders, dory races by Eddie Moore, canoe race by Don Douglas and swimming races in co-operation with Coach Ralph Reed of the Newport harbor high school.

Secretary G. C. Macleod was instructed to ask permission of the city council for the bicycle races, also to ask that a speed greater than the usual 10 miles per hour be allowed in the county channel, north of Lido Isle, during Easter week each day between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. It was stated that visiting collegians are planning to indulge in aqua planing, among other sports, during their sojourn here.

At the suggestion of Mayor M. J. Johnson, the chamber will join the city council in asking the P. E. railway to install a wigwag signal at Coast boulevard and Thirtieth street.

A letter was read from H. V. Cortelyou, division engineer of the state highway department, stating that plans were being carried out whereby the Coast highway will be straightened and widened between the Arches crossing and Corona Del Mar and a new, wider highway built over the upper bay. City Engineer R. L. Patterson explained the plan in detail.

COSTA MESA, March 11.—The Community church board of trustees, D. J. Dodge, J. B. Cleghorn and Lloyd Willcutt, met with members of the church official board, A. M. Nelson, H. B. McMurry, Donald Gibson, F. A. Daley and Mrs. A. M. Nelson, in the church chapel last night at the call of the pastor, the Rev. A. F. Haase, to arrange financial and other matters coming up in the organization at this time. An Easter program is being worked out at present in the way of a membership drive.

STYLE SHOW IN BEACH CITY IS C. OF C. TOPIC

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 11.—A variety of topics and short talks engaged the attention of the chamber of commerce members at the luncheon Monday noon at the Golden Bear cafe. President Osborn tried to make the members do all the talking and invited all present to bring up any topic for consideration. He even ventured to urge somebody to present the details of the threatened oil boom, but apparently news of oil booms was weak on the market.

Mrs. May S. Jackson, secretary of the chamber, said that there had been many inquiries for city maps and that 35 maps had been sold during the past week, netting $3.50. President Osborn said he had held conference with property owners under the proposed state coast park site, and that progress was being made in this matter, but nothing of importance to the community could be announced at this time.

J. Sherman Denny announced that a meeting had been arranged between the chamber of commerce music committee and the high school board for this week at which the matter of engaging a music instructor for a high school boys' band would be up for discussion.

L. E. Mitchell stated that he had been aiding D. T. Johnson in the work of the American Legion in giving assistance to Legion members in filling out their applications for loans under the adjusted compensation act and that many requests for loans had been filed but so far no returns had been received here. Legionnaires in Long Beach and other cities who filed their applications early are known to have received their loans and the soldiers who filed here are expected to shortly be getting their loans through.

Ralph C. Turner made a short but interesting talk on the merchants' style show to be held the evening of March 18. He asked that those present boost for the style show which the merchants desire to make an annual event. He stated the city officials would be asked to decorate the streets, that the boys' band would play and that there would be models at four stores to demonstrate the latest spring styles.

President Osborn invited Postmaster W. I. Clapp to talk about any new angle that might have come up relative to changing the name of the city. The postmaster said he had brought that matter up once at the chamber of commerce and did not get very far with it, but that he had received some 50 letters, all from citizens, the tenor of the letters being that the city really needed to change its name and that he should continue the matter actively until he got results.

PLAN PROGRAM AT SESSION OF CHURCH GROUP

COSTA MESA, March 11.—The Loyal Workers, a Sunday school class of the Community church here, held their regular monthly business and social meeting in the social hall of the church last night. Mrs. G. S. Brown is teacher of the class. The class president, Mrs. Jennie Baird, presided at the meeting. Other officers present were the secretary, Mrs. Roy Berry, and treasurer, Earl Winterbourne. The meeting was opened by all singing several sacred songs, with Mrs. Rollins at the piano.

Several business matters were attended to, one being that at the next meeting, April 14, the men will have full charge, Roy Davis, Herb McMurry, Fred Meyers, Freeman Daley, Edgar Chaplin, and Donald Dodge being appointed as program committee. A series of lantern slide pictures "Scenes From Palestine" were shown on the screen. The Misses Wanda Thompson and Helen Davis sang, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Vida Thompson. Miss Davis also sang "Spring" and "All the Night." With Mrs. Thompson as accompanist. Coffee and sandwiches were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Berry, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Winterbourne, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Figure This One Out, Mr. Holmes ANAHEIM, March 11.—The burglar who entered the home of L. R. Curtin, 617 South Helena, the other night, apparently had an aversion for Irish music, Curtin said, in a complaint made at the police station yesterday. He claimed the thief stole a large number of late popular pieces and a wrist watch but sorted out all the Irish music and left it.

100 HEAR TALK BY PRESIDENT BAPTIST UNION

FULLERTON, March 11.—"Streets of Forgotten Men" provided the subject for an address by J. Milton Johnson, member of the national laymen's council of the Northern Baptist convention, and president of the Baptist Young People's Union of America, at a meeting of the Fullerton Baptist brotherhood last night in the Baptist church, when more than 100 attended.

Johnson told of the opportunities which await Christians who are willing to make sacrifices for the help of others. He urged laymen to take a more active part in the program of evangelism.

Entertainment was furnished by the Rev. Abel Pierson of the Baptist Mexican church of Placentia, who sang. F. E. Blawitt was in charge of the program.

Members of the Baptist Fishermen's club held a business meeting following the joint session in the church hall. The club, which was recently organized, has elected Willis Manuel president. Other officers are Sammy Miller, vice president; Donald Comstock, secretary and Leland Dunham, treasurer. The Rev. T. A. Flynn is the club teacher.

ELSIE GORDON

ANAHIM, March 10.—Two young men, one of which called himself Murphy, yesterday swindled local merchants out of a used car and a $50 watch. The young men appeared to be about 18 years old and worked with such smoothness and plausibility as to deceive both Mrs. Edmond Wiseman, from whom they stole a watch, and Bill Houser, from whom they obtained a used Chevrolet coupe.

While Mrs. Wiseman was showing the watches one of the customers secreted a watch on his person and walked out before it was missed.

Later in the day the same two men went to a used car lot operated by Houser and asked to try out a used car they pretended to be interested in. Houser let them take the car and they left an old touring car with him that they had been driving. The men failed to return with the car and Houser became suspicious and called the police station. It was found that the car they had left with Houser was a stolen one.

R. A. Pihl, 1129 West 33rd street, Los Angeles, was the owner of the car and came down to claim

Four Hundred Avocado Growers Meet In La Habra

FIRST SCHOOL ON CULTURE OF FRUIT STAGED

Over 400 avocado growers were present yesterday at the opening session of the first avocado school ever presented, in session at La Habra.

The meeting, which was scheduled to be held at the Lincoln school auditorium, was held at the Washington school auditorium instead, due to additional auditorium room, which was needed to accommodate the large number of people interested in avocado culture.

The first session of the extension school presented by the University of California, college of agriculture, convened at 9:30 a. m. at which time a short welcome was extended to La Habra by R. W. Vanderhooft, president of the La Habra Chamber of Commerce.

H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor of Orange county was the first speaker and spoke on "Essentials of Avocado Culture." The speaker said in part, "There are five essentials in avocado culture which must be remembered and considered. They are good soil, good trees, proper soil moisture control, fertilization, and exposure, including wind and frost. A good foundation is necessary and the best rootstock possible should be obtained, preferably the Mexican seedling or the Fuerte seedling. The bud wood should be strong and healthy, for the runt tree is the most expensive tree we can raise together with the tree of known parentage."

Water supplied to the orchard he said, served two purposes, first to supply moisture requirements, and second to transport and make available certain plant food elements in the soil that they may be absorbed by the root system. The avocado tree, he stated, is very susceptible to improper soil moisture conditions, and no iron clad rule can be set down for use in the varying soils of this section. Excessive irrigation reduces bacterial activity.

In regard to adding nitrogen to the soil he stated that one-half of the nitrogen should be added in bulky masses by the use of manure, bean straw or alfalfa hay, and the other half to be added in simple form like sulphate of ammonia, or calcium nitrate.

J. G. France, farm advisor of San Diego county, spoke on "Principles of Tree Growth." He stated that absorption and photosynthesis were the two principles in tree growth most interesting which cover the process of taking in food for the plant and the giving off of food for other creatures. He explained the respiration process of the tree as well as the transportation process of the tree in main- taining a balance pressure with the rise and fall of its sap.

W. R. Schoonover, extension specialist in citrus culture, of the experiment station at Riverside, spoke on "Fundamentals in Soil Management." He stated that he questioned the so called balanced fertilizer program but called attention to the fact that more nitrogen for the soil was needed and that an active organic fertilizer was necessary for bacterial action.

M. B. Rounds, Los Angeles county farm advisor, spoke on "Fertilization" and its relative costs to the farmer. He stated that since the avocado industry was so young definite data on the subject was not yet available but so far the principles used in citrus culture were being applied to the avocado. He also favored the plan adopted by many of the citrus growers in adding one half of a nitrogen fertilizer and then supplementing with one half bulky matter to provide

CLAIMS HEAD-RUTAN 'WATER' BILL MAY DETER BENEFITS OF BOULDER PROJECT TO CITIES

As far as joining the Metropolitan Water district is concerned, that part of Orange county not already in it may form a district and join under the Metropolitan Water District act, and no further legislation is necessary, according to Col. S. H. Finley, of Santa Ana, secretary of the Metropolitan Water District and former supervisor, who addressed an open meeting of the Newport Harbor Chamber of commerce in the council chambers last night.

Joining the Metropolitan district is said to be one of the reasons given for the passage of this bill. On the contrary, Col. Finley said, the bill, if it becomes law, may tend to deter some communities from joining the district, until it is too costly or too late.

In reply to a question he stated that the bill now before the legislature to organize the Orange County Water Saving and Replenishment district is unnecessary insofar as joining the Metropolitan Water District is concerned. Finley said that there is no doubt that all cities in this county and adjoining counties located at elevations up to 1200 feet above sea level should join the Metropolitan district. The water, due to be delivered in about seven years, will be pumped 1500 above sea level before it starts on its trip to Southern California. Cities will be given water according to their assessed valuations and those which come in late must pay at the same ratio as if they had joined the district earlier.

The water Southern California will get will be sufficient to supply a population of 7,500,000, Col. Finley said. He stated that the water supply already is insufficient for ordinary needs, and that several of the cities which recently have joined, notably Long Beach, Torrance and Fullerton, did so partly because they have reached the end of their water resources if they expect to attract many more industries and residents.

There is no other source except the Colorado river to supply this need, the speaker said. Even seasons of heavy rains would not supply it, because for 40 or 50 years the development has been so rapid that the water deposits of thousands of years have been almost exhausted.

An orange ranch, on the average, uses as much water as the Sacramento area in a built up city, Finley said, and in answer to another question he stated that it would be the part of wisdom for all of Orange county not in the district to join as one unit, which he said can be done under the present act.

the balance of nitrogen necessary. At the close of the session in the afternoon the guests were escorted in cars through La Habra Heights and the surrounding territory by the La Habra Chamber of Commerce. Of the 400 ranchers, 50 of them were from La Habra. A luncheon was served at noon at the new cafeteria at the Washington school. The second and last day of the school was in session today.

Judge F. D. Halm was chairman of the morning session yesterday and George Pratt Smith, of San Diego county, the chairman of the afternoon session. Members of the La Habra Farm center acted as hosts. They were M. J. Pickering and R. N. Hodson, R. W. Vanderhooft, R. W. Frantz, F. E. Halm, N. M. Launer, Walter Beck, W. H. Holloway and H. A. Randall, reception; L. N. Hooper, J. W. Smith, A. Wright and O. T. Stephens, publicity; A. V. Douglass, Ben Roberts, W. F. Espoit, George Soule and R. B. Ward, transportation.

The gold mines of South Africa have apparently been worked from antiquity, and must in ancient times have supported a very large population and a much higher civilization than it has known up to our times.

LOCAL COLLEGE TEACHERS FIND STUDENTS GONE

While professors stared into empty classrooms and janitors swept out empty halls, students of the Santa Ana Junior college were dispersing themselves today on the inviting sands of Balboa beach, the occasion being the annual Ditch Day for the Dons and Donnas.

Administration heads were notified of the plans early this week but the rank and file of the "profs" were in the dark as to the date of the ditching. And while they wondered over the antics of the vacationing collegians, a well-rounded program was being carried out at the beach for the students under the direction of the Junior Lions, men's service club.

Plans called for beach games, baseball, football, swimming and races during the forenoon and afternoon, with a big dance in the evening. The facilities of the Rendezvous ballroom were given free to the college and a large number of students, teachers and parents were planning to attend.

SHOWS VIOLIN MADE OF WOOD 100 YEARS OLD

Dr. C. J. Ruley, who has offices at 405 North Broadway, is displaying today a violin which was made by his sister, Mrs. Clara Minear, of Pennsboro, W. V., and which she sent the Dr. Ruley in the hope that its sale will aid in bringing relief to drought sufferers.

Mrs. Minear lives in the area that was so hard hit by the recent drought and has an invalid husband who is unable to work. They have four children. She was suddenly forced to make an attempt to earn money in some fashion, and struck upon the idea of making violins. She never had made a violin, but the one sent to Dr. Ruley is a beautiful and apparently well made instrument.

The wood in the instrument is taken from a building on the old homestead in West Virginia that is over 100 years old.

Every member of the Minear family is a musician and the family has an orchestra of its own.

According to Dr. Ruley, the family is in destitute circumstances and he is asking the co-operation of local musicians in helping him sell the violin and obtain money to help relieve the stricken family.

Stead is the committeeman in charge, who will make provision for transportation.

been found, there was only about $5 in cash in all three.

Entrance was made into the house in the usual manner for the "party burglar," using a wire on a screen at an unlocked window. The footprints found by Captain Robert Elliott, who investigated, were said to have been the same as found at other houses robbed by the thief during the past several months.

LEADER IN PRESERVATION OF NATURAL BEAUTY IS WON BY CHARM OF SOUTHLAND SCENES

The beauties of roadsides of Southern California have been extolled by Mrs. Arthur Courtenay Neville, of Green Bay, Wis., who has been spending some time in this city, and who left yesterday for her home in the Middle West by motor. Mrs. Neville has taken an active interest for many years in the preservation of natural beauty along the highways of the nation.

Recently she organized a committee of 100 women from every district of Wisconsin to aid her in her work in that state. This is the first committee of the sort ever organized, Mrs. Neville said.

California has fewer billboards than nearly any other state she has visited, Mrs. Neville declared, and she has been especially interested to see the movement in the state to preserve historical landmarks as well as scenic beauty.

Mrs. Neville was the second president of the Federation of Women's clubs of the state of Wisconsin and has served for nine years as chairman of the committee for the preservation of roadside beauty. She also has been chairman of the city beautiful department of the Women's club of Green Bay, an organization which has a membership of 500 women.

On her second visit to Santa Ana and her fifth visit to the state, Mrs. Neville said that she was particularly impressed with the rapid growth of this city. Mrs. Neville, with her secretary and chauffeur has been staying at the De Soto apartments, where she has greeted many friends in this vicinity. Mrs. W. N. Cummings, of Orange, is a close friend of the clubwoman. That the Santa Ana canyon is one of the most beautiful places in Southern California is the opinion of the Wisconsin visitor, who said that the historical background of Southern California makes it a most fascinating place in which to travel.

While here Mrs. Neville has had as her guest, Mrs. W. L. Lawton, of Glenn Falls, N. Y., who is the president of the National Council for the Preservation of Roadside Beauty. In response to a call from the William McGee home on the Santa Margarita ranch, the San Clemente fire department yesterday, made a fast run to put out a fire which had started in the kitchen of the house. Mrs. McGee left her home on an errand, forgetting to turn off the current of her electric iron. A hole was burned through the ironing board and a hardwood table on which the board rested. Smoke from the blanket which covered the board caused a farm hand to think the house was on fire, and an alarm of fire was turned in. No damage was done to the property.

STATE SENATE GROUP FAVORS ORANGE COUNTY

Prospects of one additional assemblyman for Orange county were definitely advanced in the state senate yesterday when the senate reapportionment committee adopted a resolution reducing the proposed Los Angeles county quota from 31 to 30 districts and giving the extra one to Orange county.

This action was taken on the demand of Senator Nels T. Edwards, of Orange county, according to reports from Sacramento, and was adopted by the committee over a protest from Senator H. E. Carter, of Los Angeles county, by a vote of eight to six. The bill as amended was sent by the committee to the printer and is expected to be given favorable consideration when it comes back before the committee, probably late this week.

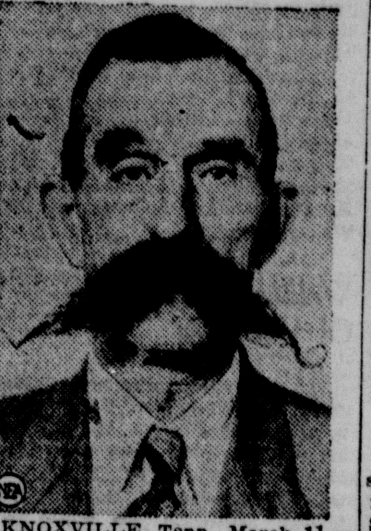

Senator J. W. McKinley of Los Angeles, chairman of the senate reapportionment committee and author of the bill which was before the committee for consideration, stated that it is based strictly on population and that Los Angeles is entitled to 31 assemblymen, but is willing to surrender one to Orange county, which is within 21,000 population of being entitled to two assembly districts.

The bill cuts three men from the San Francisco assembly delegation and one from Alameda county. They formerly had a combined total of 29, 12 from San Francisco county and eight from Alameda county. San Francisco is reported to be vigorously demanding 11 or at least 10 assembly districts, regardless of population figures on which the number is based in the bill.

The assembly committee on reapportionment, headed by Assemblyman Ted Craig, of Orange county, was scheduled to discuss the assembly bill on reapportionment today.

Wife, or — household drudge!

Both women in this picture are wives. Each keeps house without a maid.

One -- shown with an apron -- has little time for rest or outdoor recreation. At the end of the day she is worn out with work and worry -- an irritable and an irritating wife. Much of her irritation is due to her old fashioned water heater which must be lighted frequently or else the hot water faucet runs cold.

The other -- dressed for the club, the shops or the matinee -- has her housework finished early. She is fresh, alive and charming when husband comes home from work. She never is delayed or irritated because of the lack of hot water for kitchen, bath, or laundry. Her friends envy her because they see her retaining the charm and freshness of youth. She owns a WELSBACH AUTOMATIC natural gas water heater.

Harry Lewis Gives Talk At Meeting Saturday

When Daughters of the American Revolution met Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Arthur McFadden, 1108 North Main street, they were made better acquainted with some Americans of another continent through a talk by H. W. Lewis. He filled the program hour with an intensely interesting and enlightening discussion of some of the South American countries.

Using a large map, the speaker traced the routes followed when he and Mrs. Lewis made a recent visit to South America. Since they enjoyed a six months' stay, the travelers were able to learn much of the general conditions of life. They found much of interest in Chile where they had several friends and even the names of many towns were found similar to those of California.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. John Clarkson, chapter regent, details of a tree planting project were discussed. Reports were given by several chapter members who motored to Los Angeles for a recent conference and luncheon. Nearly a thousand women were present to greet Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, national president of the society, who was in Southern California for a brief visit.

Concluding the meeting with the usual social period, a dainty tea menu was served in the dining room where Mrs. Joseph Metzger and Mrs. Henry W. Guthrie presided. Mrs. McFadden was assisted by a committee including Mrs. Mac Robbins, Mrs. S. W. Andrews, Mrs. George Bond and Mrs. O. S. Johnston. A guest of the afternoon was Mrs. S. R. Robbins, member of the D. A. R. chapter in Williamsport, Pa. Other guests were Mrs. H. W. Lewis and Mrs. W. H. McPeak.

African Adventures To Be Related By Ingis Fletcher

An important change in the after-dinner program for the big affair which Ebell women are giving Friday night in the clubhouse for the general public, was made today by members of the program committee, who announced that Ingis Fletcher (Mrs. Charles Fletcher) the speaker, had authorized them to state that instead of giving reviews of current travel books, she would devote her address to her own recent travels in the interior of Africa, with special emphasis placed on big-game hunting.

Mrs. Fletcher, who will be in the Southland on a brief lecture tour and who is giving this particular evening to Ebell society as a courtesy to her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth, vice president, made the program change voluntarily when she learned that Ebell women had planned to make the occasion a dinner party to which the public is invited. She declared that book reviews would not have the general appeal that personal experiences of a traveler would have, especially to the men among the guests, a decision that agreed with the opinions of the hostesses.

Dinner will be served in the peak room at 6:30 o'clock, and it has been pointed out that those who are not Ebell club members will have the same privilege of arranging parties for the affair, as will the clubwomen. A number of reservations already have been made for private parties of a dozen or more guests, and hostesses who may wish to form similar groups will be happy to learn that tables may be reserved for any size party which they wish to entertain.

Clever songs and dances will be introduced during the dinner hour by a talented young Negro lad of Anaheim, the formal program being reserved until after the serving of the menu.

Mrs. Fletcher, who is well known in this city, gave so much pleasure at an earlier appearance before the society, that her return is being awaited with the utmost anticipation by the clubwomen. In addition to the talk, Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh will sing several of the lyrics written by Mrs. Fletcher while in Africa, and expressive of the history and drama of the "Dark Continent." It will be remembered that Mrs. Slabaugh interpreted some of these lyrics at the Ebell program given by Mrs. Fletcher, adding to their strange wild beauty by her masterly rendering.

Local Writer Attends Los Angeles Meeting

Miss Marjorie Lusk, 219 East Washington avenue, has returned from Los Angeles where she was the guest of friends, and attended the meeting late last week of the Los Angeles chapter, League of Western Writers.

The meeting proved most interesting, according to Miss Lusk, who is prominent in Pegasus club. Anne Shannon Monroe was speaker of the evening and told of her latest book, "Feelin' Fine," reading several excerpts from it. Another guest of special note was Seumas McManus, the Irish poet who was so recently a guest of Dr. and Mrs. Gunning Butler in their Costa Mesa home. He gave a delightful account of his boyhood in Ireland, and read several things from one of his most popular books, "We and Our Neighbors."

Club Meets For Bridge Session

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Watson were hosts to members of their bridge club Saturday evening, entertaining in their home, 601 East Walnut street. A suggestion of St. Patrick's day was found in the decorations and in the refreshments served following the card games.

With the checking of tallies it was found that Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bittle held high honors and Mrs. Philip La Londe and Earl Lepper low.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Lewis Bittle, Earl Lepper, Philip La Londe, William Stanford, Doc Terrill, Homer Neer, Earl Neer and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Watson.

City Council P.-T. A. Enjoys Luncheon In Hendrie Home

One of the most enjoyable meetings which the city council, P.-T. A. has held this year, was a recent event taking place in the attractive ranch home of Mrs. I. R. Hendrie on Washington avenue, where the afternoon business and program session was preceded by a luncheon of much charm.

Mrs. Hendrie's garden yielded its loveliest flowers for the event, while various members of the council sent other blossoms until her home was most attractive in its floral appointments. Especially lovely were the delicate colors of the peach blossoms centering the luncheon table with its beautiful lace cloth. Each member of the council contributed her favorite dish to the menu served.

Mrs. Hugh Neighbor, president of the council, conducted the after-luncheon business meeting, introducing Golden Norwood Weston, director of adult education in the city schools. Mrs. Weston assured the women of the co-operation of her department in their coming year's activities, pointing out that leaders would be furnished for study groups in local schools, especially in parental education and child welfare groups, and in the educational movement of a pre-school survey.

Frances Hunt Beeson, music supervisor, also promised assistance in contemplated music programs. Mrs. F. H. Heine, chairman of pre-school examination, explained the plan to establish a survey of all children who will enter school for the first time. This will be conducted by the county board of health, and is believed to offer many valuable possibilities and features. All presidents of local associations or mothers of pre-school age children may learn further details by getting in touch with Mrs. Heine.

Mrs. Roy Beall announced an entertainment program to be held in the high school auditorium Saturday night, March 21, when Claire Cotant will present her advanced dance pupils under the auspices of the Junior College and High School P.-T. A. All proceeds from the program will go to the scholarship fund.

A nominating committee was appointed in anticipation of the annual election, and was composed of Mesdames S. I. Preble, W. R. Fine, J. H. Stewart, Frances Hunt Beeson and Dr. Margaret D. Baker.

The council accepted the invitation of Mrs. J. Edmund Snow to meet in her home, 407 West First street, in April.

Members sharing the hospitality of Mrs. Hendrie's home were Mrs. Hugh Neighbor, Mrs. S. I. Preble, Mrs. F. H. Heine, Mrs. Frances Beeson, Dr. Margaret Baker, Mrs. Golden Weston, Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, Mrs. W. A. Proctor, Mrs. Charles Carrillo, Mrs. W. R. Fine, Mrs. J. H. Stewart, Mrs. Roy Beall, Mrs. Arthur Meyer and Mrs. Paul Olmstead.

Sewing Club Meets With Mrs. Skirvin

Mrs. C. J. Skirvin greeted members of the Domestic Arts club yesterday afternoon in her home, 115 West Fifteenth street. The hours were devoted to sewing, and to conclude the pleasant occasion, the hostess served dainty refreshments.

All the club members were present, and included Mesdames T. P. Kingrey, W. B. Williams, T. E. Williams, H. W. Leeling, E. G. Summers, C. L. Johnson, W. Paul Johnson, W. B. Martin, F. Skirvin, J. C. Sexton, A. W. Gerrard and C. J. Skirvin.

Ebell Flower Show Committees Have Been Named

Although the dates of April 9 and 10 were selected some weeks ago by Ebell Garden section members for their 1931 Spring Flower show to be held in Ebell clubhouse, more detailed plans of the section and of Ebell society in general for the event were today given their first general publicity by Mrs. Walter E. Watkins, leader of the section which takes the initiative in all matters pertaining to the flower shows.

It is expected that practically all spring blossoms will be at their perfection of bloom at this time, while the plants and shrubbery whose sale is always a feature of the spring exhibit, will come at an opportune time for amateur gardeners. Entertainment features in connection with the display will include music and dancing on Thursday evening, April 9, following the formal opening of the flower show to the public at 4 o'clock that afternoon. Friday night will feature a fashion revue as the closing event.

Mrs. Robert G. Tutthill, president of the general Ebell society, as chairman of the program committee, has Mrs. A. G. Flagg, Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMullin, Mrs. J. P. Hatfield and Mrs. Emrys White as her co-workers. Of the other committees working for the success of the event, Mrs. A. H. Farrar is chairman of the awards, with Mrs. D. A. Harwood and Mrs. J. C. Lamb.

Mrs. Watkins is chairman of the flower show committee composed of Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. Farrar, Mrs. Clyde Bach, Mrs. J. T. Wilson and Mrs. Cood Adams. Mrs. C. E. Downie will be chairman of the group contacting Orange county women's clubs; Mrs. J. C. Wilson and Mrs. Minnie Holmes will have charge of Ebell sections' displays, while Mrs. S. I. Preble and Mrs. Roy Kirk will arrange for junior high and Mexican schools' displays. The adult educational center activities will be directed by Mrs. Clyde Bach, while Mrs. Cood Adams and Mrs. C. E. Utt will be in the wild flower department. Pottery and garden furniture will be in charge of Mrs. J. E. Paul; confections will be arranged for by Mrs. W. W. Anderson and Mrs. E. F. Yeagle, and members of the Day Nursery board will see to the tea service.

Miss Mary Thompson and Mrs. P. E. Farnsworth will receive the plants, bulbs and fruits, the latter to be both fresh and canned. Mrs. Walter Hickey as chairman, will supervise the decorating committee composed of Mesdames MacMullin, Reeves Aylmore, H. C. Kirk, J. C. Lamb, J. A. Prescott, Edward Walker and Miss Martha Ritchey.

Table arrangements will be in charge of Mrs. W. L. Salisbury, chairman, Mrs. J. C. Metzger, Mrs. Harwood, Mrs. Severin Schulte and Mrs. Aylmore. The door committee will be composed of Mrs. J. C. Metzger, chairman, Mrs. J. B. Tucker, Mrs. Flagg, Mrs. H. J. Porgy and Mrs. M. J. Marks. The listing committee will have Mrs. J. T. Wilson as chairman, and Mesdames Farrar, C. E. Downie, John Ball, Harwood, Lamb and Fred P. Jayne as members.

Judges in the flower department have already been selected and will be nurserymen of long experience, from Howard and Smith and the Armstrong nurseries at Ontario.

Mayflower Club Has Enjoyable Party

Thirteen tables of bridge and ruck were in session yesterday afternoon at the benefit party given at Kilpatrick's bakery by members of the Mayflower club. Those in charge of the affair were Mrs. Robert E. Smith and Mrs. Roy Butler.

Preceding the games, an appetizing luncheon was served, with tables prettily decorated in green and white. Bouquets of white sweet peas added much to the refreshing effect of the St. Patrick's theme. In the bridge games of the day Mrs. W. F. Kistinger held high score, and Mrs. J. H. Patton, second. Mrs. R. Taiton upheld honors in the ruck games. A special prize was awarded Mrs. M. R. Kellogg.

Interesting Program Features Meeting Of W. C. T. U.

Preceding the luncheon meeting of the W. C. T. U. held yesterday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church, the regular business session was called to order by the president, Mrs. Amy Evans. Mrs. Elizabeth Clark led the devotional service, using the book of Hosea as the subject for the worship hour.

Adjourning to the church dining room, a delectable covered dish luncheon was served. During this time Mrs. N. H. Leonard spoke on the "Union Signal," the national temperance publication, urging that more of the members subscribe to the periodical. Mrs. Elizabeth Warren, a state officer, told of the plans in progress for the "Hold Fast," a membership campaign being launched all over the state. Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess will have charge of the Orange county campaign. At a luncheon to be held April 14 the campaign will be started, and will continue until Mother's day in May.

The meeting convened again at 1:30 o'clock, and the program subjects were "Health," in charge of Miss Emily Cox, and "Medical Temperance," in charge of Mrs. Luella Stewart. Miss Cox introduced Mrs. Amelia Meagher, secretary of the Orange County Tuberculosis association. She gave an interesting account of the health camp located near Irvine park, and exhibited some striking posters.

Mrs. Stewart introduced Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, national director of medical temperance, who gave a splendid address on that subject. Mrs. Mary Wager, corresponding secretary, read a letter from Mrs. H. W. Worley, a missionary in China.

Those in charge of yesterday's luncheon were Mrs. Eldora Demarest, Mrs. Martha Bundy and Mrs. Mary Wager.

Clubwomen Are Guests At Two Pleasant Functions

A delightful tea given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. W. H. Kuhn in her home at 602 Stafford street, was the second of two hospitable functions with which Mrs. Kuhn, president of Santa Ana Woman's club, has entertained chairmen of the club's standing committees.

In anticipation of yesterday's enjoyable affair, the hostess had arranged sweet peas in tones of orchid, purple and white throughout her home. There was no formal program, much of the conversation being concerned with club affairs of general interest. At the tea hour a special feature which all enjoyed to the utmost, was the telling of fortunes by the time-honored method of reading the tea leaves, with Mrs. Ray Baxter as the entertaining "seer." Mrs. Baxter, a neighbor of Mrs. Kuhn, assisted her in various hostess duties, and created much merriment by her clever readings of the future.

Asked to share the afternoon were Mrs. M. C. Williams, Mrs. Harvey Riggle, Mrs. Charles H. Stanley, Mrs. C. F. Crose, Mrs. C. S. Dunphy, Mrs. J. H. Tompkins, Mrs. George Wright, Mrs. Jacob Bohlander, Mrs. James C. Clark and Mrs. James E. Lively.

At her earlier hospitality, Mrs. Kuhn invited her guests to a waffle breakfast, serving the appetizing menu at a table gay with pink sweet peas. Mrs. Baxter assisted her in serving on this occasion also, and provided much merriment with her first series of "fortunes."

Breakfast guests of the club president included Mesdames E. C. Wilson, William A. West, Carl Mock, William Whitehead, A. J. Knight, William Casteller and Olive Watkins.

Welcome Arrival Of Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Merigold, 118 North Van Ness avenue, were rejoicing today over the safe arrival of little Miss Gwendolyn Merigold, weight 8 pounds, who was born to Mrs. Merigold yesterday afternoon in Santa Ana Valley hospital.

The little maid is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Merigold, 901 South Ross street, and of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Illingworth, 602 West Second street. Mrs. Merigold was formerly Miss Myrtle Illingworth, a popular graduate of Santa Ana high school and junior college. Mr. Merigold, in addition to his fame as a musician, is sales representative with the Southern Counties Gas company.

Kotex fits inconspicuously

and it is soft, comfortable, disposable

KOTEX keeps you free of self-consciousness at times when sanitary protection is necessary. It is skillfully shaped to fit securely. It absorbs five times more than surgical cotton—absorbs away from the surface, not in one concentrated area. This method of lateral absorption leaves your protection dry and comfortable far longer than the ordinary pad.

It may be worn on either side with equal protection. There is no chance of getting it adjusted wrong—no possibility of embarrassment.

Kotex has not merely an apparent softness, but a lasting softness. It is treated to deodorize effectively. Hospitals use quantities of Kotex and also the soft absorbent material of which it is made. Kotex is disposable, as you know, quickly, easily—first of all its advantages over old-time methods.

Complimenting Mrs. Herbert Atkins, 2010 Bush street, was a delightful party of recent date in the home of Mrs. George Stocks, 2059 Bush street. The affair was a complete surprise to the honoree and the home was decked with a profusion of lovely pink and blue sweet peas for the occasion.

The afternoon was spent with radio music and watching Mrs. Atkins unwrap the many packages of lovely gifts tied in pink and blue, and presented to her in a bassinet lined with pink and white. Refreshments of ice cream, angel food and sunshine cake, were served by the hostess.

Our Old Friend Spinach

I haven't mentioned our old friend, Spinach, for quite some time. Probably much to the joy of some fathers and their sons. But at that, I'll bet that I have made a lot of boys, large and small, eat spinach and like it, when it is cooked and dressed according to my pet recipe. Wash the spinach carefully and let stand in water.

When ready to cook lift the spinach out of the water and let it cook in water that clings to the leaves, uncovered, so that the water will evaporate. Chop fine when cooked and dress with a very small amount of the richest, thick cream sauce you can make, then shake the NUTMEG can over the dressed spinach three times, fold over and serve.

Spinach not only has the A, B, C vitamins in large quantities, but it has the two principal alkalines, organic lime and soda, oodles of iron and the right type of roughage to make it a food designed for human consumption, not forage for cows.

But we must not forget that spinach takes an important place in our salads, here uncooked. Put 1/2 pound of clean spinach into a chopping bowl and chop it fine (don't run through food chopper, ever). Add almost as much grated carrot, season with salt and pepper, dress with mayonnaise, served on lettuce, a teaspoonful of chopped walnuts sprinkled over each portion. Try this on the children for lunch, with hot bran muffins, jam and cocoa.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Vegetable Souffle

4 tablespoons melted butter or Any good substitute like bacon fat
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 cup milk
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup mashed winter squash
1 teaspoon minced onion
3 eggs, whites beaten separately.
I use squash here because it is a good type of vegetable for this purpose, but mashed turnip, carrot, drained, finely chopped spinach, are all useable.

The base of any good vegetable or meat souffle must be a very thick cream sauce, the leavening power is supplied by the stiffly beaten egg whites.

Melt the butter, blend with flour, add the cup of milk and stir until cooked to a smooth very thick sauce—this had better be done in a double boiler for it burns very easily. When the sauce is cooked take from the fire and, one at a time, beat the egg yolks into the sauce. Next, add the mashed vegetable, season the dish and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites, in the same manner that you would fold them into a carefully made angel food cake.

If you BEAT them in the air cells are broken and the souffle is sure to be tough, so cut them in, with a good deal of thoroughness. A few chopped nut meats added to this souffle improves it greatly. Bake in a buttered ring mould, or any pan for that matter, for 30 to 40 minutes in a slow oven. Fill the center of the mould with creamed peas or creamed celery.

At this season of the year—Lent—this dish takes the place of meat most acceptably.

The calory total is 1075. The dish serves four very generously.

Ann's Cook Book, No. XIII, Lenten Dishes, fits right into this season, so do send your stamped, self-addressed envelope for a free copy this week, if you are interested in serving good food through this restricted season.

Tomato Rarebit will be the cooking lesson recipe used tomorrow.

As Happy Climax To Wedding Day

Complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rogers, whose marriage was an event of Monday morning, Mrs. Rogers' aunt, Mrs. C. D. Henderson, entertained that night at dinner in her home, 110 West First street. Prior to her wedding the bride was Miss Bertha May Mulligan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Mulligan, 623 1/2 Garfield street.

The Henderson home was decked with flowers for the occasion, and following the serving of the delectable repast, a social evening was enjoyed. A group of 16 relatives assembled for the affair.

For the wedding ceremony, the bride chose a filmy frock of pale green georgette. There were no attendants. At present Mr. and Mrs. Rogers are making their home with the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. S. A. Rogers, 1033 West First street. Mr. Rogers is employed in the oil fields at Placentia.

Surprise Shower Held In Irvine Park

Irvine park provided an attractive setting for a surprise shower held Sunday when a group of friends gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. L. Abel of Beverly Hills, a bridegroom and bride of recent date. Prior to her marriage Mrs. Abel was Miss Jane Cavanaugh. She is a sister to Mrs. James Detrixhe of 715 South Sycamore street.

An elaborate dinner was prepared on the broiler by Joseph Haniel Hart of Verdugo canyon. Soon after the appetizing menu was served, the honor guests were presented with a selection of gifts from those assembled.

Those present, other than Mr. and Mrs. Abel, were Mr. and Mrs. Detrixhe of this city, Mr. and Mrs. William Cameron of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cavanaugh and Mr. and Mrs. Jo H. Hart of Beverly Hills.

Friendly Foursome Enjoys Bridge Game

Using the St. Patrick's colors of green and white, Mrs. Edward Cochems, 323 East Chestnut street, made her home the setting for an enjoyable little affair of recent date when she entertained a few close friends at an afternoon of bridge. Freezies were used throughout the rooms, while a slender table where a delectable refreshment course was served.

Those sharing the hospitality of Mrs. Cochems were Mesdames J. D. Sanborn, R. E. Smith and Roy C. Butler.

MICKEY MOUSE CLUB TO HOLD CARTOON TESTS

Santa Ana members of the Mickey Mouse club of the Fox West Coast theater are to learn to be cartoonists, if a plan the theater now has in mind goes through as per schedule.

The members of the club will meet with Jimmy Dickie, Hollywood cartoonist, at the theater every Saturday and each week will turn in a cartoon they have drawn at home. Dickie will have charge of the contest and the best cartoons each week will win a prize for those who made them, both boys and girls.

Manager Norman Sprowl, Fox theater manager here, wants to make the contest one of the biggest that the theater has ever had and special plans have been made for giving the children every opportunity to win the prizes.

When a complete set of the cartoons have been made, after a number of weeks, the best one here will be entered in a national cartoon contest being staged throughout the United States and in which the winners are offered big prizes. First prize in the national contest is $500, second prize $250, third prize $100 and 15 prizes of $10 each.

Details of the contest will be told at the theater on Saturday and each child can learn at that time just how to become a cartoonist, free of cost, and at the same time enter the contest here which is expected to be a big added feature for the Mickey Mouse club meetings every Saturday.

'DANCE FOOL DANCE' AT FOX BROADWAY

"Dance Fool Dance," Joan Crawford's latest picture, comes to the Fox West Coast theater today for a four-day run.

Every picture that Joan Crawford has made has been a big success, both from the standpoint of the audience and the box office, and "Dance Fool Dance" is no exception to the rule according to advance information on the picture.

The new picture is somewhat different type of story from others in which Miss Crawford has played, however. Different from "Our Blushing Brides" and "Dancing Daughters," it is more like "Paid," which was seen here recently, but yet entirely different. "Dance Fool Dance" is the story of a girl reporter on a Chicago newspaper, who is sent into the underworld to solve a murder mystery the police have failed to solve.

STAR OF NEW OPERA

Vivienne Segal, who has a colorful role in the romantic musical film, "Viennese Nights" opening today at the Fox West Coast theater.

'VIENNESE NIGHTS' OPENS HERE TODAY

"Viennese Nights," which opens today at the Fox West Coast theater, promises to be an event of unusual interest to the motion picture public.

It is the first original screen romance written by those acknowledged masters, Sigmund Romberg and Oscar Hammerstein II, and staged and produced with a lavish hand by Warner Brothers.

Nothing just like "Viennese Nights" has ever before been attempted on the screen. It contains an original symphony played by the Los Angeles Symphony orchestra of 100 pieces, and the story is one of the most hauntingly beautiful ever transferred to the talking screen.

Walter Pidgeon, Jean Hersholt, Vivienne Segal, Alexander Gray, Alice Day, Louise Fazenda, Bert Roach and June Persell head the cast of gifted players. The entire picture is photographed in technicolor against authentic period backgrounds that for size and detail have never been equalled on the Warner Brothers lot.

The making of "Viennese Nights" interested Hollywood as few productions have ever done. The Fox West Coast theater offers it as one of the most unusual treats in picture history.

DOUBLE BILL SEEN AT WALKER STATE

A very fine double feature program is being presented tonight and Thursday at Walker's State. What is alleged to be the largest collection of screen celebrities ever to be used in a talking comedy is seen in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's satire of Hollywood studio life, "Free and Easy."

The cast includes Buster Keaton in his initial talking and singing screen appearance, Anita Page, Trixie Friganza, Robert Montgomery, Dorothy Sebastian, Karl Dane.

"Ex Flame," a modernized "East Lynne," is the second feature picture.

If all the mountains in the world were leveled the average height of the land would rise nearly 250 feet.

People and Prosperity

(Read Luke 13:10-17 and 14:1-6.)

Text, Luke 13:16.

Ought not this woman . . . to have been loosed from this bond on the sabbath day?

We have the answer of the ruler of the synagogue. We can guess the answer of the woman who was healed. He was not suffering; she was. It made a great difference.

But the oxen were not left to suffer; they were watered on the sabbath, and if one of them fell into a pit he was not left till the sabbath was past. That was not out of compassion, perhaps. The suffering of animals made slight appeal in those days. Even Paul could ask, "Does God care for oxen?" But oxen were property. If they were not cared for, property would depreciate, or perhaps be lost. The woman had no market value. The case was one of property rights against human rights. How often the rights of property are upheld at the cost of human suffering! Jesus is ever the champion of the human rights. Christianity means a ministry of mercy—to beasts, no doubt, but first to people.

PRAYER: O God, in whose mercy we confide, enlighten our eyes, that we may discern the face of the Master whom we serve even in the least of His brethren and ours. In His name.

Amen.

FAREWELL 71ST CONGRESS

Perhaps no Congress of recent years has worn out the patience of more people than the Congress which has just packed up and gone home. Conservative and Liberal have both raved at it. It has been kicked and cuffed and bullied more than any Congress that we can recall. And that is saying a good deal when we recall the quarrels of Cleveland and Roosevelt and Wilson with their Congresses.

Next to the War Congress of '17-'19, this Congress has had to deal with some of the most puzzling problems. It has been in session during most of its life. During its existence the country has been passing through the severest depression that we have ever had; and the end is not yet in sight, unfortunately. There has been no outstanding leadership, as there was when Roosevelt and Wilson were at the helm of the State. And Congress has drifted along with a mixed leadership at conflicting standards. Watson and Robinson in the Senate, respectively for the Republicans and the Democrats, and Tilson and Garner, to say nothing of the jovial Longworth, can hardly compare with such men as Lodge and Underwood, and Burton and La Follette, however much they may have differed from one another. Not that a Congress which has men like Walsh of Montana and Norris of Nebraska and Borah of Idaho in it is without strong men. But conditions were not favorable to leadership of that sort.

Among the acts passed by Congress, there will be few of lasting value. The Tariff Bill was a blunder. The whole Power question continues to sway in the air. The shifting of the Prohibition Enforcement law from the Treasury to the Department of Justice was a move in the right direction. The big thing has been the serious differences between the President and Congress, and the use of the veto. There is a most serious difference of opinion in respect to the wisdom of these vetoes. It is a question whether any of the legislation passed to prevent the recurring depressions will, in the event of another depression, be adequate. It undoubtedly has been a hard time for Mr. Hoover, and it has been no less so for those forward-looking men of both branches who, in the face of much criticism, have really tried to serve the public for good and liberal progress.

INEFFECTUAL PRAYER

The Ministers' Association of Florence, Alabama, last week called for nation-wide prayers that President Hoover might sign the Muscle Shoals bill. If such prayers were made they certainly were not answered in the manner in which the petitioners hoped they might be, for President Hoover vetoed the bill as we know. Perhaps the petitioners might have included the saving clause often incorporated in the prayers, that the petition should be subject to the Lord's will.

This incident illustrates that much of the religious life of the South has not yet been touched by the modernism which has become so general in the North. Such prayers might possibly have had some effect upon the President had they been quite general in the country. They might have had the same effect as a flood of petitions directed toward the White House. But it was not in the horoscope that the bill should be signed, and we only hope that the sincere folk who believed that prayer under such circumstances might be effectual will not have lost their faith in true prayer or in the religion which means so much to them.

We would not be understood as being carpically critical of such evident religious sincerity, but we wonder if religion in the estimation of the so-called or the skeptical may not suffer an increasing amount of ridicule because of such a mistaken conception of prayer.

DWIGHT L. MORROW IN THE SENATE

A noted publicist has called attention to the fact that the voice of Dwight L. Morrow has not yet been heard in the Senate, and that there is no evidence of any kind that he has stamped his personal influence upon any policy of government since he came into the Senate last December.

Considering the publicity which was given Mr. Morrow's candidacy and election all over the country, this really comes to us in the nature of a surprise. We recall how Mr. Grundy, of Pennsylvania, immediately got busy when he unexpectedly became a Senator by appointment of the Governor of his state. The tariff bill was in a bad way when Mr. Grundy arrived on the floor of the Senate; and it is no secret that it was his influence and manipulation that gave the country the kind of a tariff bill that he and his high protectionist group wanted.

This contrast between Grundy and Morrow is the more remarkable in view of what was expected or not expected of both men. Mr. Morrow has been consistently conservative in all his votes. On Muscle Shoals, on the Bonus, on Drought Relief, Mr. Morrow has been perfectly regular. We do hope that the man who brought order out of the Mexican chaos will not become simply a rubber stamp for the machine. We still hope that when Mr. Morrow has finished his novitiate and become accustomed to the ways of the Senate, his personality may be stamped upon our national life for progress and wise legislation.

CROSS CURRENTS

Senator Watson, of Indiana, has written an open letter to Senator Norris, asking where this progressive group, which is meeting in Washington, stands on various questions. There are some of these questions that are undoubtedly written rather for purposes of embarrassment.

It seems that both Republican and Democratic leaders are rather alarmed over this progressive meeting, although there is the most complete evidence that there is no intention on the part of those who have called it to organize a third political party. Certainly under present conditions in this country there is every reason why people of various political party loyalties, who agree as touching forms of legislation, should get together and discuss the respective merits of plans and programs.

Of course, it calls attention to the ridiculous absurdity of people uniting as a political party, whose views are so adverse upon nearly every economic and social question, as are the members of the Republican party on the one hand, and of the Democratic party on the other. It is becoming increasingly difficult to hold the lines, simply by the magic of the party name. A great many men have undoubtedly voted for the Republican candidate for President, for example, because he stood, we will say, for prohibition or possibly for a high tariff, who differed with him upon every other subject than the one particular one which in their minds was paramount.

The same is true of the Democratic candidate. We are acquainted with men who voted for Mr. Smith, agreeing with him upon the one question of the liquor traffic, and differing with him on every other subject. There were thousands who agreed with Mr. Smith on nearly every subject except the liquor traffic. The liquor issue has been dividing the people into respective groups. Certain forces have taken advantage of the convictions of men, and have used the organizations of the parties to carry out their wishes along other governmental lines that are entirely at variance with the great multitudes whose vote, because of their convictions, has enabled them to have their candidate elected. This cannot permanently continue.

It is to be hoped that the prohibition question will soon be settled, so that convictions can be expressed upon other matters at the ballot box, unvexed by this important one.

Masaryk at Eighty-One

New York Times

It has become a habit in New York to celebrate President Masaryk's birthday quinquennially. The intervening birthdays are not forgotten, but the good wishes attending the observance are given a five-year potency. This is not done from a sense of thrift in celebration, but with the purpose of letting this great statesman know that it is the expectation of those who met in his honor that he will have another five-year period of health and activity.

However, when a man has passed, by reason of strength, even beyond the fourscore years, they who follow his career with interest mark the day in the calendar of their remembrance and reinforce the hopes already expressed for the years that lie beyond. President Masaryk was a quarter of a century past the Oslerian maximum of intellectual creativeness before he began to achieve that for which nearly a half-century he had made self-denying preparation. Five more years of struggle brought him to the three-score and ten and to the beginning of the years of fulfillment, which have already been four times five.

A schoolmaster, his teaching has got itself expressed in terms of living nationally. He has had a chief part in writing the physical as well as political geography of his country. And the rest of the world had reason to hope that he will continue to "keep school," and to teach that independence, as he has said, is "only a means to attain the righteous living of a nation" and not an end in itself.

As we celebrate our Washingtonian year we can but wish that we might have what the Czech Academy of Arts and Science is providing for future generations: "film archives" of the persons and scenes of the beginning days of independence.

Grading Whiskers For Advertising Purposes

San Francisco Chronicle

Whiskers again seem to be very much in print and the first thing we know they may be in the public eye if not in the soup.

We read, for instance, that certain London restaurant managers have ordered their waiters to grow whiskers and that the edict has been repeated by some New York establishments. The idea seems to be to decorate the waiters so as to distinguish them from the guests and avoid a cause of embarrassment.

But to fulfill its purpose the rule must prescribe the kind of whiskers, also with modish little plasters flanking the ears the waiters are likely to be mistaken for an old edition of John Gilbert or some of his newer imitators. We suggest the restaurants combine symbolism with heraldry.

In prescribing whiskers why not prescribe the mutton chop type? That would fit in neatly with the business. Of course, vegetarian establishments would have to adopt some other type, the kind of whiskers commonly called spinach, for instance.

Sulphur-and-Molasses Time!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A SIGH FOR BETTER TIMES

I go, now and then, to the "talkies"
And I find them sufficiently bad;
Yet I long for the days of the old "movie" plays
And my heart is unspeakably sad.
For a poor luckless hobo like that,
What I liked was the fearful eyed maiden
With a soft tangled halo of hair:
Then a flick of the screen, and the words could be seen:
"LOVE'S LURES LEADS ALONE TO DESPAIR!"

I was fond of the heartbroken hero
Whose beautiful wife left him flat,
I could gain deep relief from a flutter of grief
For a poor luckless hobo like that.
But chiefly I fell for the title
Whose setting was truly high art,
And the teardrops I shed as the title I read:
"WHAT IS LOVE TO AN ADAMANT HEART?"

And the baby, the dear little baby,
That I saw in a pitiful play,
And whose heart was so stirred when its mother averred
She was going to Reno next day.
It glanced at the hard angry parents
As dear innocent babies all do,
And remarked with a smile, soft with innocent guile:
"OO OUGHT TO BE LOVERS, OO TWO."

When the film has a mission to broadcast,
When it has a great lesson to teach,
Just a swift passing hint in clear luminous print
Moves the heart far more deeply than speech.
No words were more widely remembered
Than the beautiful ones "COMES THE DAWN."
The screen's flash and flick has lost half of its kick
Since those wonderful titles are gone.

EASY

After all, the taxpayers are merely expected to make money as fast as Congress can spend it.

CHEERFUL NEWS

Anyway, suffering Europe has at last got a break. Al Capone has discovered that he can't be deported, because he was born in this country.

SOME IMPROVEMENT

We are not wild over the "talkies" but at least they deter the man who sits behind us from reading subtitles aloud.

Long-Range Planning to Plan

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Long-range planning of public works can help to prevent unemployment. This old idea is explained, with new features, in the report of the committee of 43 members, which is now under discussion by the Legislature of Massachusetts.

The proposal of the committee involves increased employment of men on public works, in proportion to decreased employment on private enterprises.

To carry out this plan, the Committee says, decisions concerning the projects which are to be started in time of special need must be reached well in advance of a decline of business;
also, as far as feasible, schedules, sites, blue-prints, specifications, contracts, and public credit must be ready.

The proposed policy does not involve the spending of money merely to create jobs; or the spending of more money, during a so-called cycle of business, than otherwise would be spent.
Nothing more is involved than that a part of such works as are to be constructed anyway, shall be constructed, through the increased use of public credit, when measurements show that business needs added payrolls.

The primary purpose of the plan is to PREVENT unemployment. Increased expenditures are to be made as soon as statistics of prices and employment show the BEGINNINGS of a business slump.

The spending of additional funds on public works AFTER business has fallen into a depression has been suggested many times. Yet under this makeshift proposal little has ever been done. The main reason why so much discussion has resulted in so little action is that the only far-reaching policy is one of prevention rather than one of cure.

But prevention has been impossible in the past, because neither the Federal Government nor any of the States has achieved long-range planning of public works. We have had nothing, hitherto, but long-range planning to plan to plan.

We was eating breakfast this morning and ma sed to pop. Well Willum, I've saved enough tobacco coupons to get myself that set of luncheon dishes that I've been wanting. Izent it wonderful, Willyum, just think of presenting a lot of little scraps of otherwise worthless paper and receiving a beautiful set of luncheon dishes without the expenditure of a penny in actual cash in the sense of money, she sed. And the exact same set is on sale at Hookbindshe sed.

And tonight during supper she sed,
Well Willum, I got the luncheon set.

I hope the plates are large enough to hold liver and onions, pop sed.

Being his favorite thing, and ma sed, Of course, I didn't actually need a new luncheon set in the sense of really having to have it, but as long as I could practically get it for nothing I thawt I mite as well have it. They had the identical set that Hookbinders are adver-tizing for 32 dollars, and it was reely attractive in a mild way, but they had another set with a reel willow pattern that was positively exquisite in every sense of the word. Naturally I didn't have nearly enough coupons for it, but the woman at the premium place told me in confidence that a man that keeps a cigar store around the corner made a specialty of selling extra coupons to people that didn't have enough, so I hurried around there to see if he had any,
and it seems he did, and he sold me enough to make up the difference for only 35 dollars and I got that marvellous willow set which is worth fully 75 dollars or perhaps even between 75 and 80, she sed.

Yee gods, 35 dollars for a luncheon set we don't even need? pop sed, and ma sed, But Willum, its the principal of the thing.

The principal is 35 dollars and the interest would be 4 million dollars and 32 cents if I compounded annually for 300 years, pop sed. Im going down to the office and brood about it, he sed.

And he put on his hat and overcoat and went out.

Life

A NOTE ON SUMMER SCHOOLS

This is the season when, throughout the nation, plans are being brought to conclusion for the many summer schools that will be conducted in colleges and universities next summer.

Summer sessions have been a godsend to many types of students.

They have been a godsend to the student who, for economic reasons, has been forced to get his educational training in nibbles of spare time.

The summer session is one of the later, peripheral, and less rigidly formalized sections of the educational system.

This less formal character of the summer session has, at times, caused some of the "educational" Brahmins to take a somewhat sniffling attitude towards the content and methodology of summer session work.

Insofar as its informality, its lack of rigid formalism, and its freedom from long traditions, have resulted in slackness of intellectual discipline or superficiality of content in the work of the summer session, the sniffling Brahmin is justified in sniffing.

But I should like to suggest that the very brevity of the summer session—six or eight weeks—and its lack of a long tradition of formalities is also an opportunity for experimentation which is sometimes rather hard to secure in the regular session of American colleges and universities.

I am always scanning the horizon during the summer to see what directors of summer sessions are doing to capitalize their unique opportunity for educational experimentation with educational content and educational methods.

Of course, the director of a summer session is not an absolute free lance.

He must fit his work into the prevailing scheme of credits and requirements that the college and university system imposes.

Reform in one part of the educational system is difficult unless the whole system is willing to play the game of readjustment.

But the directors of summer sessions have a great chance to bore from within.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

DO NOT THREATEN

"Jimmie, did you tell the grocer to take to Aunt Ellen?"

"No, I forgot."

"You forgot. You don't ever remember anything that you want to forget. Now the very next time that you forget is going to make me forget to take you to the pictures next Saturday."

Next day Jimmie forgot to close the door.

"Jimmie, did you close the cellar door after you?"

"O gee, I forgot."

"Go now and close it. First see if the cat got in. If she did put her out."

"She wasn't in, Ma. I closed it."

"Remember, I told you that the next thing you forgot would cost you your trip to the city to the pictures. I meant it. You don't go."

Jimmie burst into tears and fled to his room. This trip had been his dream for weeks on end. Now because he forgot to close the cellar door it was snatched from him. Indignation against his mother burned in his heart.

"She did it a purpose. She knew I'd forget some little thing and she said that for an excuse. Mean old thing. I'll never do anything for her again, that's what I won't."

Meanwhile mother was crying into her sewing. She was sorry for the disappointment of the child, but she had said he was to forfeit the trip if he forgot again and her word was the law. Bitterly she wished it weren't this time. But what could she do?

You see forgetting is not a willful deed. It is a state of mind. When a child's mind is full of an idea so strong that it crowds out all other ideas something is going to be forgotten. Punishment such as this will not help a child to remember things because memory does not work that way.

The worst of it was that Jimmie got the wrong idea. He tied his punishment up to his leaving the cellar door open, which he argued, was no great crime. He did not associate his trouble with his habitual forgetfulness because his mother had said in her impatience, "You forgot to shut the door. You cannot have the trip to the pictures." The real cause of the punishment was habitual carelessness but the child was convinced that it was this particular cellar door that had tripped him up.

It is unwise to threaten a child in advance of misdeeds. It is most unwise to set a punishment for an unspecified offense. Threats and promises are alike dangerous. Time and events have a habit of affecting each other so that things that happen today look very different from what they promised to look like yesterday.

No threats, no promises. Reward and punishment are to follow close upon the heels of the deed done. That prevents many a mistake, many a heartache.

TASSO'S BIRTH

On March 11, 1544, Torquato
Tasso, the great Italian epic poet, was born at Sorrento, the son of a nobleman.

He studied law at Padua but afterward switched to philosophy at Bologna. In 1561 he published some poems and the following year his "Rinaldo" appeared. At 18 he was already famous.

In 1572 Tasso was invited to the court of Alfonso II, Duke of Ferrara. While there he produced his most important works. His "Aminta," a pastoral drama of great lyrical charm, is said to have inspired all motives of Italian verse for the next two centuries. In the following year he completed his great epic poem of modern times.

Following his release from an insane hospital, where he was confined for seven years, Tasso led a broken and wandering life. At Rome, where he had been summoned by Pope Clement VIII, to be crowned poet laureate at the capital, as Petrarch had been, Tasso was stricken with a fatal illness and the ceremony was never performed.
